ANNUAL MEETING
WOOD COUNTY BANK.

The annual meeting of the Wood County National Bank was held Tuesday evening at their banking rooms. The usual reports by the officers were presented which reviewed the business for the past year and showed the present financial condition of this growing institution. The stock was well represented and all stockholders present seemed pleased and well satisfied with the result for the year.

The old Officers and Directors were re-elected as follows: Directors, L. M. Alexander, G. F. Steele, T. E. Nash, F. J. Wood, E. Roebuck, L. E. Mullon, J. G. Rosebush, L. E. Nash, Guy O. Babcock. Officers, F. J. Wood, President; L. M. Alexander, Vice President; Guy O. Babcock, Cashier; Warren G. Fisher, Asst. Cashier.

Telephone Stockholders Meet.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wood County Telephone Company was held at the city hall on Monday evening.

The report made by the directors for the past year showed that the company was in a prosperous condition, having paid off two thousand dollars of their debts during the past year and also purchased a new section for the switchboard costing $1800.

Very little reconstruction work was done during the past year, the work along this line being what was simply necessary to keep things running in good shape.

The directors are figuring on putting in quite a bit of cable during the coming season, the leads that go onto the hill on the east side having been in such poor shape for some time past as to make it extremely disagreeable for the subscribers. However, when this portion of the system has been supplied with a cable the lines in the city will be in pretty good shape.

Mr. John A. Gaynor made a few remarks to the meeting, stating that he noticed that while the number of telephones continued to increase steadily the number of stockholders remained approximately the same, or did not increase in proportion to the number of subscribers.

Mr. Gaynor stated that it was his opinion that the object of the company was being defeated by these conditions. Every man who has a telephone is entitled to a share of stock by the payment of $50, and on this $50 he receives a dividend of 12 per cent, or six dollars a year.

Mr. Gaynor was of the opinion that if the facts were brought before the telephone users of the city that many of them would take out stock.

The same directors were elected for the coming year, namely: M. H. Jackson, G. W. Davis, John E. Daly, W. A. Drumb and H. E. Fitch. There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Pork Going Up.

Emery Lee of the town of Saratoga was up before Justice E. N. Pomerville last Wednesday on a charge of stealing a pig from Norman Wood, also of the town of Saratoga. Mr. Lee pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $5, which with the costs amounted to $12.95.

Mr. Lee made the statement afterward that he had not stolen the pig, but that he had been bothered by the animals coming into his enclosure, and that one day, thinking to impress on them the fact that they were not wanted there, he took his gun and shot at them. One of the pigs was killed, which was not expected by Mr. Lee, who, on the spur of the moment, hid the carcass. It was from these facts that the lawsuit resulted.

Sales Company Meeting.

A meeting of the Cranberry Sales Company is being held in this city today at which most of the cranberry growers in this section are in attendance. Reports of the past season's business will be received. The growers in this section seem to be well satisfied with the results obtained by the Sales Company.

Mrs. M. J. Penvel has been confined to her home by sickness during the past week.

Annual Bank Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of this city was held Tuesday evening and nearly all of the stock was represented.

Tables were spread in the lobby of the bank and a very nice 6:30 dinner was served the stockholders and their wives, and this was followed by a delightful social hour.

At the close of the social features the regular business was transacted. In his annual report the Cashier gave some interesting figures indicating a very substantial growth for the bank during the past year. The business and earnings were both larger than any previous year since the bank was organized nearly forty years ago.

The following gentlemen, all of Grand Rapids, and well known throughout central Wisconsin, were elected directors for the coming year: Geo. W. Mead, W. J. Conway, Edward Lynch, E. W. Ellis, Earle Pease, Dr. J. J. Looze and I. P. Witter.

At the close of the stockholders meeting the directors elected the following officers:—

President—Geo. W. Mead.
Vice President—Edward Lynch.
Cashier—Earle Pease.
Assistant Cashiers—A. G. Miller and H. O. Demitz.

NOT AN APOLOGY
BUT AN EXPLANATION

Some of the story-reading subscribers of the Tribune will probably notice that the allotment of continued story is missing this week. This is caused by the fact that our regular supply of patents did not arrive this week owing to the fact that the railroad companies are unable to move freight with their customary regularity.

It is hoped that the matter can be straightened out by next Wednesday when things will run along as usual. While it is quite an inconvenience to have things turn out in this manner, it is probably no more than can be expected considering the kind of weather that has prevailed during the past week.

Miss Margery Kellogg has returned to Fond du Lac where she is attending Grafton Hall.

Miss Mildred MacKinnon left on Monday for Kenosha where she is engaged in teaching in Kemper Hall.

F. MacKinnon left on Tuesday for California where he will look after some business for the MacKinnon Mfg. Co.

Silas Evans, president of Ripon College, will occupy the pulpit in the Congregational church on Sunday next, morning and evening.

M. L. Giesburg pays the highest cash price for Hides, Pelts, Furs, Junk and all kinds of metal, 111 3d Ave. N., opposite the new Johnson & Hill building.

John Hoffman of the town of Sherry was adjudged insane on Thursday before County Judge Conway. He was taken to the hospital at Mendota the same day for treatment.

The five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiseman of the west side was seriously burned one day last week while playing with fire around the kitchen stove. The burns are on the hands and body.

August A. Sacker of the town of Grant, Portage County, was a pleasant caller at the Tribune office on Tuesday while in the city on business. Mr. Sacker reports the roads badly drifted off his way wherever there is a clearing.

An alarm of fire was turned in on Saturday from the Mike Dolan residence on Grand Avenue, which turned out to be only a chimney burning out, however. As the weather was bitterly cold everybody was glad to hear that it was only a false alarm.

William Calkins of Stevens Point died at Stevens Point on Monday at the age of ninety years. He had lived in Stevens Point since 1860 and was a grandfather of Attorney F. W. Calkins of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Calkins are in Stevens Point today to attend the funeral.

CRANBERRY MEN HELD MEETING.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers' Association was held at the city hall in this city on Tuesday, January 9th, with President Andrew Searls presiding. The attendance was smaller than usual owing to the extremely cold weather that has prevailed, notwithstanding which fact the meeting was an interesting one to those engaged in the industry.

The meeting was opened by an address by the president, who spoke of the encouraging prospects for the coming year, the marshes the past fall having been left in a most favorable condition. This condition was brought about by the fact that a large amount of moisture fell during the autumn months, making it possible to cover the vines with water, so that the loss from winter killing will be reduced to a minimum.

The crop in 1910 was considerably reduced by winter killing brought about by the lack of water, and during the entire season the growers in this section were at the mercy of the weather, for there was no time when there was enough water in the reservoirs when the growers felt perfectly safe, which is not the case now.

O. G. Malde, superintendent of the experimental station, read a paper on the work that has been done at the station during the past year which proved both interesting and instructive. The experiments at the Grammer station near the Gaylor marsh, about twelve miles from this city, are carried on under the supervision of the University of Wisconsin, and a most minute record of the work done there. Since its establishment great progress has been made along the lines of fertilization and sanding of marshes, as well as results from pumping, methods of planting, and various other problems that the cranberry men had been working out in an unsatisfactory manner before its establishment.

There was also a paper by George Pelzer on the subject of insect work, which gave valuable information concerning the pests that the cranberry men have to fight each year.

There was a paper by Andrew Blasig, sales agent for the American Fruit Exchange on the condition of the berries when they reach the retail merchant. During the shipping season Mr. Blasig is out on the road all of the time looking after all the berries, and where there is any trouble between the shipper and the merchant he is on hand to see wherein the difference lies, and as a consequence his paper was a most valuable one for the growers. As a general thing the berries leave the grower in a first class condition, but a journey of several hundred miles, combined with the numerous changes in temperature that they undergo, often causes them to deteriorate very materially in the way of shrinking, etc., so that they do not arrive at their destination in the same condition in which they leave the grower. The Fruit Exchange is making every effort possible to deliver the fruit to the consumer in as near a perfect condition as possible, and care on the part of those packing the berries will contribute very materially to accomplishing this result.

C. L. Lewis of Shell Lake, Wisconsin, had a paper on the subject of "Experiences of a Year's Work on Cape Cod," which proved a most interesting paper to those present. The conditions on Cape Cod are so entirely different from those existing on the cranberry marshes of Wisconsin, that there are many respects in which the industry in no way resembles it as carried on in this state.

The boys are much smaller on the Cape and it is a much more intensive work than in this state, where often a cranberry grower owns a dozen acres of land, with several of them planted to cranberry vines. It is needless to state that the production per acre is much greater on the Cape than it is in Wisconsin.

The officers elected for the coming year were as follows: President, Andrew Searls; vice president, O. S. Potter; Secretary, J. W. Fitch; treasurer, H. J. Gebhart; member of executive committee, J. J. Emmerich.

—Doctors tell us to eat more fruit. Why? Because it is a necessary food for man. In the winter such fruit as Prunes should take the lead. The prune is considered one of the most healthful foods grown, and also one of the cheapest. Let the children eat raw prunes. They won't eat too many; serve a dish of soaked, not cooked prunes for breakfast and also for supper during the winter months; if you do not like the taste of them try them as you did olives. You will cultivate the taste for them. Call for the celebrated St. Olara prunes, raised in that healthful climate in St. Olara County, California.

JOHNSON & HILL CO'S.
TABLE TALK.

The case against Dr. Doege and Hayward of Marshfield was tried out in circuit court last week, the doctor being defendant in a damage case for $10,000, was won by the defendants, the jury having decided that there was no cause for action.

The case was brought to recover the sum of $10,000 for damages on account of the death of August Arndt, who was killed in a runaway at Stevens Point, the runaway having been caused by the horse taking flight from an automobile that Dr. Doege was driving, and in which Dr. Hayward was a passenger.

It was evident from the testimony in the case that Dr. Doege used ordinary precaution while driving along the road. Goggins & Brazeau were attorneys for the defendant.

By the Court. W. J. Conway, Attorney for the Estate of August Arndt.

Obas, Road, Russell, Hansen, Fred Duncan, Meyer, Froelich, Earl Hill, Albert Natwick and R. F. Matthews were initiated into the Elks lodge on Tuesday evening. After the ceremonies there was a banquet and smoker, and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by the boys.

Miss Minnie Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Young of this city, died at the Marshfield asylum on Friday, came of death being tuberculosis. Deceased was twenty-seven years of age. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from the home on the east side, Rev. F. A. Pease of the Methodist church conducting the services.

Commission Form of Government

At the last meeting of the city council a report was made by the city attorney stating that the petitions asking for a vote on the commission form of government were all right, and it is entirely probable that the people of Grand Rapids will have a chance to vote on the proposition within a short time.

Some of our citizens seem to be entirely at sea on this matter. That is, they seem to imagine that there is something about it that has not as yet been revealed, and that the intricacies of the system will not become known until after the new plan is in operation for a time. This is not a fact. It is merely placing the government of the city into the hands of three men and paying them for doing the work. There is a mayor and two aldermen and they are elected by ballot by the people at large. They will receive enough salary so as to be able to devote a part of their time to the government of the city, and they can be found and a proposition be put up to them in a business way the same as any business man in the city. Their job depends on their doing the right thing and doing it in a business manner. If they do not do so other men can be elected to take their place. The men will certainly be selected for their business ability rather than for being free spenders or good fellows.

Everybody knows how the city is governed at the present time: that is by a mayor and 16 aldermen. It is a plan that has been in vogue for years and may have much to recommend it, and then again there may be some drawbacks. The present system may be a bit cumbersome. That is, it is a comparatively large body of men who meet but once a month unless some special subject is to be considered, in which case special meetings are called.

Any matter of importance that comes up wherein the expenditure of a considerable sum of money is involved must be laid over for a meeting or while the members of the council think the matter over and make up their mind whether they are going to do anything with it or not. This may be a good thing and then maybe it is not. One thing is certain: There are very few of the great business enterprises that are run in this manner. All of the big stock companies have a competent manager who is able to decide almost any subject in short order, and not have to call a meeting of all the stockholders every time a bill for labor is presented.

Some men object to the new form of government because in their opinion many of the ordinary working men would never have a chance to hold office under the system, while with the present plan almost anybody can get a job as alderman.

They are probably right, and if they think that the city will thrive better with almost anybody running it than it will in the hands of experts, they should certainly vote against the new plan.

However, this is becoming an age of experts and all the big business enterprises are hunting out the most expert men they can find to handle their affairs, and why should not a city do the same. Then again the average alderman cannot afford to devote a great deal of his time to the affairs of the city. The better man he is the more his mind is taken up by other matters, so that he is less valuable to the city.

Where the commission form of government has been tried it has proven to be a great thing, but of course that is not saying that it would prove equally beneficial to Grand Rapids. In some of the places the cities were run down by graft and grafters and the change did away with this. It is not thought that there has ever been any graft in Grand Rapids, and there probably never has been, so there would be no gain in this respect.

Anyway, it is a matter that every man should think over, and when he goes to the polls he should vote for what he thinks is best for the city, not what may contribute most to his personal gain. It is no disgrace to be either for or against the plan, as every man has a right to his own way of thinking.

Dr. Doege Wins.

PROCLAMATION
BY THE MAYOR.

Whereas a petition signed by over Four Hundred (400) electors of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin was presented to me on the 5th day of December, 1911, praying that the Mayor issue a proclamation and cause a special election to be held at which shall be submitted the question, "Shall the plan to reorganize the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, under Sections 925m-301 to 925m-318 inclusive of the Statutes of Wisconsin, be adopted?"

Now Therefore, I, W. K. Wheelan, Mayor of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, do hereby publicly proclaim that there will be held at the several polling places in the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, on Tuesday the 30th day of January, 1912 a special election as provided by law for the purpose of submitting the following question to the electors of said City, to-wit: "Shall the plan to reorganize the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin under Sections 925m-301 to 925m-318 inclusive of the Statutes of Wisconsin, and the acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, be adopted?"

Dated at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, this 9th day of January, 1912.
W. K. Wheelan, Mayor.

Series of Sermons.

A series of sermons on the subject of "Love, Courtesy and Marriage" was begun at the Methodist church last Sunday evening, the theme of the first sermon being "Young Men and Matrimony." The address next Sunday evening will be to the young women, the topic being "Young Women and Matrimony." Others will follow and be duly announced. These subjects are real live up to date themes, and will be treated in the usual outspoken manner for which the preacher is noted. There is no collection taken, but the congregation are requested to leave their offering at the door as they enter. That's the way they do at the ideal, the Grand and at Daly's Theatre, only at these places you can't get in unless you "put up the price." At the church you can get in without the where-withal, if you are so minded, and no one is any the wiser. The hour is seven thirty.

Dr. Breddfield Will Practice in Grand Rapids.

On account of increase in practice Dr. Hoff not being able to reach all his patients in this vicinity, has formed a partnership with Dr. Breddfield, Doctor of Chiropractic. Dr. Breddfield comes well recommended from Hancock, Michigan, as an excellent practitioner of his science. Dr. Breddfield will take charge of the office, and Dr. Hoff will do the outside practice at his office in Junction City, Stevens Point and other cities where lately he has been having many new patients.

Marx-Mattheis.

Otto J. Marx and Miss Marie Mattheis were married this afternoon at 2:30 at St. Paul's Lutheran church. Rev. Wm. Nommensen officiating after which a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seeligen which was attended by a number of friends and relatives. They will go at once to housekeeping in a house recently purchased on the west side by the groom. The Tribune joins with their numerous friends in wishing them a happy journey, thru life.

Wholesale Fruit Store.

H. W. Lea of Waukegan, Minn., was in the city last week looking over the situation with a view to starting a wholesale fruit store here. He seemed to be favorably impressed with the location, for he leased a part of the Lefebvre building on First Avenue North, formerly occupied by the Sydow feed store.

Some changes will be made in the building and the new man expects to be able to open up about the first of March.

Some Cold Weather.

Last week was the coldest stretch of weather that has visited this section for some years. Mercury registered anywhere from twenty to forty degrees below zero, according to the different thermometers. While no real suffering was reported in this community, very few moved about out of doors that did not have to.

Take Notice.

Notice.

—I will be at the Wood County bank every Saturday during January and February for the collection of taxes for the town of Seneca.

Jos. F. Andrew,
Town Treasurer.

The supreme court of Wisconsin yesterday decided that the income tax law is valid.

S. L. Brooks departed on Tuesday for Prairie du Chien where he will spend several weeks taking treatments.

J. E. Farley of this city was at Wausau on Thursday where he attended the meeting of master plumbers held in that city. Mr. Farley was elected secretary of an organization that was formed on that day.

The Equitable Assurance building in New York was destroyed by fire on Tuesday and seven women killed. The loss was $16,000,000, the building being one of New York's most up to date skyscrapers.

ANNUAL MEETING WOOD COUNTY BANK.

The annual meeting of the Wood County National Bank was held Tuesday evening at the bank's banking rooms. The annual report by the officers was presented and reviewed by the stockholders. The business of the bank for the past year and showed the present financial condition of the bank was well represented and all stockholders present seemed pleased and well satisfied with the result for the year.

The old Officers and Directors were re-elected as follows: Directors, L. M. Alexander, G. F. Steele, T. E. Nash, F. J. Wood, E. Roenias, T. E. Mullen, Judson G. Rosebush, L. E. Nash, Guy O. Babcock. Officers, F. J. Wood, President; L. M. Alexander, Vice President; Guy O. Babcock, Cashier; Warren G. Fisher, Asst. Cashier.

Telephone Stockholders Meet.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wood County Telephone Company was held at the city hall on Monday evening.

The report made by the directors for the past year showed that the company was in a prosperous condition, having paid off two thousand dollars of their debts during the past year and also purchased a new section for the switchboard costing $1800.

Very little reconstruction work was done during the past year, the work along this line being what was simply necessary to keep things running in good shape.

The directors are figuring on putting in quite a bit of cable during the coming season, the leads that go out to the hill on the east side having been in such poor shape for some time past as to make it extremely disagreeable for the subscribers. However, when this portion of the system has been supplied with a cable the lines in the city will be in pretty good shape.

Mr. John A. Gaynor made a few remarks to the meeting, stating that he noticed that while the number of telephones continued to increase steadily that the number of stockholders remained approximately the same, or did not increase in proportion to the number of subscribers.

Mr. Gaynor stated that it was his opinion that the object of the company was being defeated by these conditions. Every man who has a telephone is entitled to a share of stock by the payment of $50, and on stock he receives a dividend of 12 per cent, or six dollars a year.

Mr. Gaynor was of the opinion that if the facts were brought before the telephone users of the city that many of them would take out stock.

The same directors were elected for the ensuing year, namely M. H. Jackson, G. W. Davis, John E. Daly, W. A. Drumb and H. E. Fitch. There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Pork Going Up.

Emery Lee of the town of Saratoga was up before Justice E. N. Pomainville last Wednesday on a charge of stealing a pig from Norman Wood, also of the town of Saratoga. Mr. Lee pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $5, which with the costs amounted to $12.95.

Mr. Lee made the statement afterward that he had not stolen the pig, but that he had been bothered by the animals coming into his enclosure, and that one day, thinking to impress on them the fact that they were not wanted there, he took his gun and shot at them. One of the pigs was killed, which was not expected by Mr. Lee, who, on the spur of the moment, hid the carcass. It was from these facts that the lawsuit resulted.

Sales Company Meeting.

A meeting of the Cranberry Sales Company is being held in this city today at which most of the cranberry growers in this section are in attendance.

Reports of the past season's business will be received. The growers in this section seem to be well satisfied with the results obtained by the Sales Company.

Mrs. M. J. Feavel has been confined to her home by sickness during the past week.

Annual Bank Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of this city was held Tuesday evening and nearly all of the stock was represented.

Tables were spread in the lobby of the bank and a very nice 6:30 dinner was served the stockholders and their wives, and this was followed by a delightful social hour.

At the close of the social features the regular business was transacted. In his annual report the Cashier gave some interesting figures indicating a very substantial growth for the bank during the past year. The business and earnings were both larger than any previous year since the bank was organized nearly forty years ago.

The following gentlemen, all of Grand Rapids, and well known throughout central Wisconsin, were elected directors for the ensuing year: Geo. W. Mead, W. J. Conway, Edward Lynch, E. W. Ellis, Earle Pease, Dr. J. J. Looze and L. P. Witter.

At the close of the stockholders meeting the directors elected the following officers:

President—Geo. W. Mead.
Vice President—Edward Lynch.
Cashier—Earle Pease.
Assistant Cashiers—A. G. Miller and H. C. Demitz.

NOT AN APOLOGY BUT AN EXPLANATION

Some of the story-reading subscribers of the Tribune will probably notice that the allotment of continued story is missing this week. This is caused by the fact that our regular supply of patents did not arrive this week owing to the fact that the railroad companies are unable to move freight with their customary regularity.

It is hoped that the matter can be straightened out by next Wednesday when things will run along as usual. While it is quite an inconvenience to have things turn out in this manner, it is probably no more than can be expected considering the kind of weather that has prevailed during the past week.

Miss Margery Kellogg has returned to Fond du Lac where she is attending Grafton Hall.

Miss Mildred MacKinnon left on Monday for Kenosha where she is engaged in teaching in Kemper Hall.

F. MacKinnon left on Tuesday for California where he will look after some business for the MacKinnon Mfg. Co.

Silas Evans, president of Ripon College, will occupy the pulpit in the Congregational church on Sunday next, morning and evening.

M. L. Ginsburg pays the highest cash price for Hides, Pelts, Furs, Junk and all kinds of metal, 111 3d Ave. N., opposite the new Johnson & Hill building.

John Hoffman of the town of Sherry was adjudged insane on Thursday before County Judge Conway. He was taken to the hospital at Mendota the same day for treatment.

The five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wischman of the west side was seriously burned one day last week while playing with fire around the kitchen stove. The burns are on the hands and body.

August A. Sager of the town of Grant, Portage County, was a pleasant caller at the Tribune office on Tuesday while in the city on business. Mr. Sager reports the roads badly drifted out his way wherever there is a clearing.

An alarm of fire was turned in on Saturday from the Mike Dolan residence on Grand Avenue, which turned out to be only a chimney burning out, however. As the weather was bitterly cold everybody was glad to hear that it was only a false alarm.

William Calkins of Stevens Point died at Stevens Point on Monday at the age of ninety years. He had lived in Stevens Point since 1856 and was a grandfather of Attorney F. W. Calkins of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Calkins are in Stevens Point today to attend the funeral.

CRANBERRY MEN HELD MEETING.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers' Association was held at the city hall in this city on Tuesday, January 9th, with President Andrew Searls presiding. The attendance was smaller than usual owing to the extremely cold weather that has prevailed, notwithstanding which fact the meeting was an interesting one to those engaged in the industry.

The meeting was opened by an address by the president, who spoke of the encouraging prospects for the coming year, the marshes the past fall having been left in a most favorable condition. This condition was brought about by the fact that a large amount of moisture fell during the autumn months, making it possible to cover the vines with water, so that the loss from winter killing will be reduced to a minimum.

The drop in 1910 was considerably reduced by winter killing, and during the entire season the growers in this section were at the mercy of the weather, for there was no time when there was enough water in the reservoirs when the growers felt perfectly safe, which is not the case now.

O. G. Malde, superintendent of the experimental station, read a paper on the work that has been done at the station during the past year which proved both interesting and instructive. The experiments at the Cranmoor station near the Gaynor marsh, about twelve miles from this city, are carried on under the supervision of the University of Wisconsin, and a most minute record of the work done there. Since its establishment great progress has been made along the lines of fertilization and sanding of marshes, as well as results from pumping, methods of planting, and various other problems that the cranberry men had been working out in an unsystematic manner before its establishment.

There was also a paper by George Peltier on the subject of insect work, which gave valuable information concerning the pests that the cranberry men have to fight each year.

There was a paper by Andrew Bissig, sales agent for the American Fruit Exchange on the condition of the berries when they reach the retail merchant. During the shipping season Mr. Bissig is out on the road all of the time looking after the berries, and where there is any trouble between the shipper and the merchant he is on hand to see wherein the difference lies, and as a consequence his paper was a most valuable one for the growers. As a general thing the berries leave the grower in a first class condition, but a journey of several hundred miles, combined with the numerous changes in temperature that they undergo, often causes them to deteriorate very materially in the way of shrinking, etc., so that they do not arrive at their destination in the same condition in which they leave the grower.

The Fruit Exchange is making every effort possible to deliver the fruit to the consumer in as near a perfect condition as possible, and care on the part of those packing the berries will contribute very materially to accomplishing this result. C. L. Lewis of Shell Lake, Wisconsin, had a paper on the subject of "Experiences of a Year's Work on Cape Cod," which proved a most interesting paper to those present.

The conditions on Cape Cod are so entirely different from those existing on the cranberry marshes of Wisconsin, that there are many respects in which the industry in no way resembles it as carried on in this state. The bogs are much smaller on the Cape and it is a much more intensive work than in this state, where often a cranberry grower owns a dozen forty acres of land, with several of them planted to cranberry vines. It is needless to state that the production per acre is much greater on the Cape than it is in Wisconsin.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: President, Andrew Searls; vice president, O. S. Potter; Secretary, W. Fitch; treasurer, H. J. Gebhart; member of executive committee, J. J. Emmerlich.

Johnson & Hill Co's. TABLE TALK.

Doctors tell us to eat more fruit. Why? Because it is a necessary food for man. In the winter such fruit as prunes should take the lead. The prune is considered one of the most healthful foods grown, and also one of the cheapest. Let the children eat raw prunes. They won't eat too many; serve a dish of soaked, not cooked prunes for breakfast and also for supper during the winter months; if you do not like the taste of them try them as you did olives. You will cultivate the taste for them. Call for the celebrated St. Clara prunes, raised in that healthful climate in St. Clara County, California.

Our stock is fine, all sizes, fat and plump. A special price on small sizes for this month. 10 lbs. for 85c. KRUGER.

Chas. Rood, Russell Hansen, Fred Danon, Meyer Froelich, Earl Hill, Albert Natwick and H. F. Matthews were initiated into the Elks lodge on Tuesday evening. After the ceremonies there was a banquet and smoker and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by the boys.

Miss Minnie Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Young of this city, died at the Marshfield asylum on Friday, cause of death being tuberculosis. Deceased was twenty-seven years of age. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from the home on the east side, Rev. F. A. Pease of the Methodist church conducting the services.

Commission Form of Government

At the last meeting of the city council a report was made by the city attorney stating that the petitions asking for a vote on the commission form of government were all right, and it is entirely probable that the people of Grand Rapids will have a chance to vote on the proposition within a short time.

Some of our citizens seem to be entirely at sea on this matter. That is, they seem to imagine that there is something about it that has not as yet been revealed, and that the intricacies of the system will not become known until after the new plan is in operation for a time. This is not a fact. It is merely placing the government of the city into the hands of three men and paying them for doing the work. There is a mayor and two aldermen and they are elected by ballot by the people at large. They will receive enough salary so as to be able to devote a part of their time to the government of the city, and they can be found and a proposition be put up to them in a business way the same as any business man in the city. Their job depends on their doing the right thing and doing it in a business manner. If they do not do so other men can be elected to take their place. The men will certainly be selected for their business ability rather than for being free spenders or good fellows.

Everybody knows how the city is governed at the present time. That is, by a mayor and 16 aldermen. It is a plan that has been in vogue for years, and may have much to recommend it, and then again there may be some drawbacks. The present system may be a bit cumbersome. That is, it is a comparatively large body of men who meet but once a month unless some special subject is to be considered, in which case special meetings are called.

Any matter of importance that comes up wherein the expenditure of a considerable sum of money is involved must be laid over for a meeting or while the members of the council think the matter over and make up their mind whether they are going to do anything with it or not. This may be a good thing and then maybe it is not. One thing is certain: There are very few of the great business enterprises that are run in this manner. All of the big stock companies have a competent manager who is able to decide almost any subject in short order, and not have to call a meeting of all the stockholders every time a bill for labor is presented.

Some men object to the new form of government because in their opinion many of the ordinary chances to men would never have a chance to hold office under the system, while with the present plan almost anybody can get a job as alderman.

They are probably right, and if they think that the city will thrive better with almost anybody running it than it will in the hands of experts, they should certainly vote against the new plan.

However, this is becoming an age of experts and all the big business enterprises are hunting out the most expert men they can find to handle their affairs, and why should not a city do the same. Then again the average alderman cannot afford to devote a great deal of his time to the affairs of the city. The better man he is the more his mind is taken up by other matters, so that he is less valuable to the city.

Where the commission form of government has been tried it has proven to be a great thing, but of course that is not saying that it would prove equally beneficial to Grand Rapids. In some of the places the cities were run down by graft and grafters and the change did away with this. It is not thought that there has ever been any graft in Grand Rapids, and there probably never has been, so there would be no gain in this respect.

Anyway, it is a matter that every man should think over, and when he goes to the polls he should vote for what he thinks is best for the city, not what may contribute most to his personal gain. It is no disgrace to be either for or against the plan, as every man has a right to his own way of thinking.

Dr. Doege Wins.
The case against Drs. Doege and Hayward of Marshfield was tried out in circuit court last week, the doctor being defended in a damage case for $10,000, was won by the defendants, the jury having decided that there was no cause for action.

The case was brought to recover the sum of $10,000 for damages on account of the death of August Arndt, who was killed in a runaway at Stevens Point, the runaway having been caused by the horse taking fright at an automobile that Dr. Doege was driving, and in which Dr. Hayward was a passenger.

It was evident from the testimony in the case that Dr. Doege used ordinary precaution while driving along the road. Grogins & Brazee were attorneys for the defendant.

Notice of Application for Final Settlement. In Wood County Court, In Probate. In the matter of the estate of John J. Williams deceased.

On reading and filing the application of C. F. Smith, administrator of said estate, report of said administrator and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing his account, called the court to the next term of said court, to-wit: the 2nd day of January, 1912. It is ordered, that said application be heard before this court, at a regular term thereof, to-wit: on the 2nd day of January, 1912, at 10 o'clock, a.m. in the city of Grand Rapids, on the 6th day of February, A.D. 1912. And it is further ordered, that notice of said time and place of examining and allowing said account and of assigning the residue of said estate be given to all persons interested in said estate by a copy of this order, for three successive weeks in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in said county, before the day fixed for said hearing. Dated this 2nd day of January, 1912. By the Court, D. D. Conway, W. J. Conway, County Judge.

PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR.

Whereas a petition signed by over Four Hundred (400) electors of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin was presented to me on the 5th day of December, 1911, praying that the Mayor issue a proclamation and cause a special election to be held at which shall be submitted the question, "Shall the plan to reorganize the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, under Sections 925m-931 of the Statutes of Wisconsin, be adopted?"

Now Therefore, I, W. E. Wheelan, Mayor of the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, do hereby publicly proclaim the plan that there will be held at the several polling places in the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, on Tuesday the 30th day of January, 1912 a special election as provided by law for the purpose of submitting the following question to the electors of said City, to-wit: "Shall the plan to reorganize the City of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, under Sections 925m-931 of the Statutes of Wisconsin, and the acts amendatory thereto and supplementary thereto, be adopted?"

Dated at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, this 9th day of January, 1912.

W. E. Wheelan, Mayor.

Series of Sermons.

A series of sermons on the subject of "Love, Courtesy and Marriage" was begun at the Methodist church last Sunday evening, the theme of the first sermon being "Young Men and Matrimony." The address next Sunday evening will be to the young women, the topic being "Young Women and Matrimony." Others will follow and be duly announced. These subjects are real live up to date themes, and will be treated in a plain outspoken manner for which the preacher is noted. There is no collection taken, but the congregation are requested to leave their offering at the door as they enter. That's the way they do at the hotel, the Grand and at Daly's Theatre, only at those places you can't get in unless you "put up the price." At the church you can get in without the where-withal, if you are so minded, and no one is any the wiser. The hour is seven thirty.

Dr. Bredfield Will Practice in Grand Rapids.

On account of increase in practice Dr. Hoff not being able to reach all his patients in this vicinity, has formed a partnership with Dr. Bredfield, Doctor of chiropractic. Dr. Bredfield, formerly with Dr. Hoff, will take charge of the office, and Dr. Hoff will do the outside practice at his offices in Junction City, Stevens Point and other cities where lately he has been having many new patients.

Marx-Mattheis.

Otto J. Marx and Miss Marie Mattheis were married this afternoon at 2:30 at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Rev. Wm. Nonnenheim officiating after which a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seebach which was attended by a number of friends and relatives. They will go at once to homekeeping in a house recently purchased on the west side by the groom. The Tribune joins with their numerous friends in wishing them a happy journey thru life.

Wholesale Fruit Store.

H. W. Lea of Wisconsin, Minn., was in the city last week looking over the situation with a view to starting a wholesale fruit store here. He seemed to be favorably impressed with the location, for he leased a part of the Lefebvre building on First Avenue North, formerly occupied by the Sydow food store.

Some changes will be made in the building and the new man expects to be able to open up about the first of March.

Some Cold Weather.

Last week was the coldest stretch of weather that has visited this section for some years. Mercury registered anywhere from twenty to forty degrees below zero, according to the different thermometers. While no real suffering was reported in this community, very few moved about out of doors that did not have to.

Practical Shop Men Learn to Teach.

Believing that there is a possibility of ordinary shop men of intelligence, with a small amount of academic and professional training, becoming good, or even the best, teachers on industrial education, the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, in connection with the department of manual arts of the university, has organized a class of sixteen journeyman patternmakers in Milwaukee, to learn how to teach industrial subjects.

The experiment has been undertaken in anticipation of the probable demand for industrial teachers to take positions in technical schools which will be organized under the new Wisconsin industrial education law.

The classes meet on alternate Wednesday evenings and the work is personally conducted by Prof. E. D. Crawshaw, head of the manual arts department of the university. The instruction consists of lessons and demonstrations concerning teaching methods in various fields of manual arts.

Courses in wood turning, bench work, machine design, furniture making, and framing, together with the methods of teaching these subjects, are offered. After observing the teaching of the instructor conducting these classes, each student is required to write out the demonstrations and methods of instruction which he would employ in conducting a similar class, and later he is actually required to conduct lessons before the other members of his group, using the methods that he advocated.

"Baby Mine" Coming.

An early booking at Daly's Theatre is Margaret Mayo's "Baby Mine," which critics, press and public of New York and London hail as the finest play ever written. "Baby Mine" ran for one solid year at Daly's Theatre, New York, and has already reached its second year in London, at the Vanderbilt Theatre. It will shortly be produced in Paris, Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, South America, South Africa and Australia. "Baby Mine" leaves a pleasant taste in the month. William A. Brady Ltd. directs the tour.

Strange on Taft.

The following is taken from a circular written by John Strange, a former Lieutenant Governor and at one time a candidate for Governor, to the people in the vicinity of Appleton shortly before President Taft's visit to that city:

President Taft is scheduled to visit Appleton at an early day, and it of course behooves the cultured and dignified people of the Fox River Valley to extend him the courtesy and welcome which belongs to the exalted position at present in Mr. Taft's keeping.

However, lest we do ourselves injustice, it will be well for us to keep in mind the fact that Mr. Taft has fallen far short of even attempting to do the things his platform contract and his repeated campaign promises imposed upon him.

For many months prior to Mr. Taft's nomination at Chicago, the country had been engaged in a bitter contest over a revision of the tariff, and the paramount issue at the convention was as to how tariff should be revised.

Only a specific rule would satisfy the voters, and the rule adopted by that republican convention provided that the tariff would be "the difference in cost of manufacture at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries."

In accepting the nomination, and during all of his subsequent utterances, candidate Taft pledged himself to this rule, and to its honorable and literal observance.

In order to guide the president in the performance of his promises congress had authorized President Taft to appoint a board of tariff experts to give him information as to the cost of manufacture at home and abroad. The information so acquired to be the guide to him in submitting a message to congress to amend both houses in carrying out the platform promises made by the republican party to the people of the United States.

The specific rule laid down in the platform eliminated the question of personal discretion upon the part of President Taft, and he had no right to do other than perform his sacred promises.

That there later appeared a powerful band of law breakers and unscrupulous pirates demanding the repudiation of the obligations President Taft had committed himself to do, offers no palliation or defense for Mr. Taft, either as a man or as a public official, in his yielding to their behests.

The writer said before the finance committee of the senate of the United States, that each cowardice consistently called for the resignation of the president, and I see no reason for modifying that declaration at this time.

Mr. Taft's unwarranted and silly action in demanding a special session of congress to force a ratification of his one-sided, un-American, cowardly, contradictory, dishonorable, misnamed Canadian Reciprocity bill, cost this nation over one hundred million dollars directly, and many hundreds of millions of additional dollars, indirectly. The stinging rebuke of the Canadian voters to Mr. Taft and the cowardly and weak-kneed senators who "stood by Taft" with their contributing votes should clearly convince them all that they are no longer worthy to be entrusted with the affairs of an honest, patriotic and progressive nation.

There is consolation in the knowledge that a very respectable minority of the newspaper and magazine publishers remained loyal to the traditions and honor of the great policies of the republican party, thus again verifying the old truism that minorities are generally honest and right.

Mr. Taft's present campaign of apologies, defenses and explanations is inconsistent with the dignity and duty of the presidency of the United States. He should return to his official duties and serve out his term henceforth, with minimum cost to the people.

JOHN STRANGE.

Organize Alfalfa Clubs.

When a few weeks ago it was announced that alfalfa clubs would be organized in every Wisconsin county many were inclined to think that a radical step was about to be taken. They were not aware of the fact that the people behind this move had studied the situation for many years and were sure of their footing before they started the movement. The 1910 census throws some light upon the alfalfa crop in the various parts of the country that is of interest. Heretofore it has generally been thought that the west, and especially the irrigated states, had a great advantage over Wisconsin in the production of alfalfa. Let us see what the census figures disclose:

	acres	value	value per acre
Idaho	308,892	$6,021,400	$21.43
Colorado	508,893	9,709,100	19.08
Wisconsin	17,088	561,083	31.24

Idaho is the only state for which the figures on irrigated areas alone are available at this time and we find that the value of irrigated alfalfa per acre is $22.47 which is $8.77 per acre less than Wisconsin.

Of the states in the humid belt for which the figures are available, we find that Iowa had 89,141 acres with a value of $24.05 per acre and Michigan 5,555 acres with a value of $24.45 per acre. This showing for Wisconsin alfalfa will be an encouragement to Wisconsin farmers who have been led to believe that the state was not well adapted to the production of alfalfa; they show that the people back of the movement for forming alfalfa clubs knew what they were about, and that the general introduction of alfalfa will add millions of dollars per year to Wisconsin's annual agricultural output.

BABCOCK

Miss Selma Kruger of your city, one of our teachers here, was married to Glenn Cooper of Rudolph on Christmas day, but Mrs. Cooper will stay and teach the school year out. She is giving such good satisfaction in the school, it would be hard to get anyone at this season of the year to take the work up, and do as well as she is doing and the school patrons are very much pleased that she consented to remain.

A Mr. Oroutt from up the line was an over Sunday visitor at the Aug. Miller home.

Conditions in West Serious.

Reports from the far west are that the winter is not going well with that section of the world, owing to lack of work and an acute situation in the building trade. If any in this section are dissatisfied with Wisconsin and have the Oregon fever, let them read carefully the following from the Portland (Ore.) Daily News:

"Starvation is stalking gaunt cheeks men and women in this city, and the wolf can be heard howling in the streets; families of the poor are existing for a week on less than is used or wasted in a day in the homes of the wealthy, and it looks like there will be more 'poverty and privation' than 'pines and good will' in some parts of Portland on Christmas day this unchristian hundred and eleventh year of our Lord."

"The Rosary."

A new play to be produced in this city at Daly's Theatre on Thursday, Jan. 11th is Gastell and MacVitty's beautiful production, "The Rosary," from the pen of Edward H. Rose.

The play deals with the conditions in the American home of the present day.

In some homes the cause has only just begun, while in others misery and sorrow are always at the door.

"The Rosary" had a three months run in Chicago, two months in New York City and three months at the Globe theatre, Boston.

Dr. Bredfield Goes to Badger State.

Hancock Journal.—Dr. William Bredfield, for seven years one of Hancock's popular practitioners of chiropractic, leaves this evening for Grand Rapids, Wis., where he will form a partnership with Dr. F. T. Hoff and establish an office. Dr. Hoff will take charge of the outside work, while Dr. Bredfield will take care of the operating and the consultations. Hancock friends regret to lose the amiable doctor, whose familiar figure will be greatly missed. Dr. Bredfield has more than ordinary ability in his profession, and his cheerful disposition and straight forward, old-fashioned honesty have won him admiration. Hancock does not like to lose a good citizen, but it realizes that "what is our loss will be Grand Rapids' gain."

W. E. Fisher transacted business in Stevens Point on Saturday.

"Baby Mine" Coming.

—The announcement of the prospective visit to Daly's Theatre of Margaret Mayo's "Baby Mine" should be the means of crowding the opera house to its limit when this famous of all funny plays is presented here for the first time. "Baby Mine" is under the direction of William A. Brady Ltd., and has a record which no other play in the history of the theatre has ever enjoyed. The comedy ran for one solid year at Daly's Theatre, New York, and is now in its second year in London, at the Vaudeville Theatre. Productions are also scheduled for Paris, Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, South America, South Africa and Australia. "Baby Mine" is built for laughing purposes only, and is full of rip-roaring, wholesome comedy.

—Save a $10.00 bill for an overcoat at Abel & Podawiltz Co's. Leap Year Sale.

Henry Nieman, who had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nieman in this city over the holidays, left for his home in Kenosha on Thursday. Henry is running a shoe repairing shop in Kenosha and reports that he is getting along nicely.

Ray Love, who has been located in Chicago the past year looking after the interests of the Nekeos-Edwards Paper Co., has moved back to Grand Rapids and is again back in the Company's office at Port Edwards.

Oconto Enterprises.—H. M. Sanderson has sold his hotel business at Hampton, Iowa, and expects to move to Minneapolis, where he will engage in business. Harry was formerly connected with the Beyer House in this city and is the son of the present proprietor, J. M. Sanderson.

Catholic organizations throughout the country have assisted materially in making "The Rosary," which comes to Daly's Theatre Jan. 11th, the big hit it has proved to be everywhere.

The past week has been a hard one on the trappers all over the northern country. The heavy snow of the fore part of the week followed by continuous cold weather has caused all of the trains to be late, adding to the general disagreeableness of the work.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Wilmont and family, who have made their home at Wilmont for some years past, where Mr. Wilmont has been superintendent of the Biron paper mill, expect to leave the latter part of the week for Greenfield, Mass., to make their home.

During their residence here the Wilmonts have made many friends who will be sorry to know that they are going to leave.

—"The Rosary," which will be seen here soon, will be produced next summer in Australia by the owners, Gaskell and MacVitty.

Mrs. Fanny Thompson and Mrs. J. N. Brundage made a business trip to Milwaukee on Saturday, returning home the same evening.

Mrs. Maggie Plummer of Deluth returned to her home last week after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Daly.

W. A. Marling of Madison, one of the proprietors of the Marling Lumber Co., transacted business in the city several days the past week.

Alderman Wm. Pribbenow is at Fitchfield for several weeks looking after the loading and sealing of hub timber for the F. MacKinnon Mfg. Co.

Rev. Fred Staff of the Congregational church left on Monday evening for Cuba where he expects to spend a few weeks in a warmer climate recuperating his health. He also expects to visit the Isthmus of Panama before his return.

Guy Potter, who has been at Medina, Neb., for some time past, arrived in the city on Monday to attend to some business matters and visit his people for a few days. Upon his return to Nebraska his headquarters will be at Waterloo.

The stock company that held forth at Daly's Theatre last week did very little business owing to the extremely cold weather that prevailed all the week. Very few people were on the street that were not obliged to go, so that all phases of amusement were very lightly attended.

Owing to the extremely cold weather the wrestling match which was to have been held between John Little and Red Hibbard at Rudolph last Friday night was called off.

Several of our local sports who had intended to go up backed out at the last moment on account of the cold.

Dr. and Mrs. V. P. Norton entertained a party of friends on Friday evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Wright, who arrived in the city that day on their return from their wedding tour. A dinner was served the guests and a very pleasant evening was spent by those present.

—Gaskell and MacVitty expect to receive recognition from the Irish boys, when they bring "The Rosary" to Ireland next summer, owing to the satisfaction that these gentlemen expressed about the morals of the play in Toronto last fall.

The fellow with an income of six hundred dollars a year and eleven children to support is not worrying a bit whether the supreme court decides for or against the income tax. The man with an income of $10,000 a year says that it is a class legislation and is unconstitutional.

The cold weather of last week kept the local plumbers bustling as never before, fixing leaks caused by frozen pipes and similar troubles. One of the plumbers reports that he received 42 calls for his services in one evening, and being able to be in only 39 places at once, several people were disappointed.

School and town order books for sale at the Tribune office.

They tell a story about a colored gentleman that went into a hardware store at Nekeos to buy a razor. The gentleman of color was a stranger and the proprietor of the store hustled around and showed him everything he had in stock, but was unable to please him. At last the hardware man took out some safety razors, thinking possibly he might be able to dispose of one of the new tangled arrangements to his prospective customer. "Here's the Shave Easy, the Cut 'em Quick, the Never Dull, and—" "Oh, bless you!" replied the colored gentleman, "Aw wants dis for social functions, exclusively."

Fourth Class Postmaster Examination, Sat., Jan. 20, 1912.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on the date named above an examination will be held at Sarnia, Wis., as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth class postmaster of class B at Vandriessen, Wis., and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement. The composition of the postmaster at this office was $41 for the last fiscal year.

Age limit, 21 years and over on the date of the examination, with the exception that in a state where women are declared by statute to be of full age for all purposes at 18 years, women 18 years of age on the date of the examination will be admitted. Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the post office for which the examination is announced.

The examination is open to all citizens of the United States who can comply with the requirements.

Application forms and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the postmaster at Vandriessen, Wis., or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Applications should be properly executed and filed with the Commission at Washington within 7 days before the date of the examination, otherwise it may be impracticable to examine the applicants.

WILL RETAIN HIS SECRETS

Retiring British Barrister Has No Thought of Giving Reminiscences to the World.

Following his retirement from active practice the eminent British barrister, Mr. George Lewis, announces that he has kept no diary of the celebrated court cases in which he was retained, and will not publish his reminiscences; and the fact is reported to have brought "great relief" to many persons socially prominent in England.

In the course of half a century Sir George Lewis has appeared in many causes before the law and has been a trusted adviser in domestic difficulties. What he might tell of the Trenchard Croft scandal, the Colin Campbell divorce suit, the Parnell investigation, and the case of the barrister Bravo, whose death by poison has remained an unsolved mystery—the disclosure of those and other local secrets of a lifetime spent at the bar would give to his memoirs a scandalous interest.

But the fact for note is that any apprehension could have existed in England of a possible breach of confidence of this kind by a lawyer of the highest standing. In it assumed that the confidential relations between counsel and client rest on so slight a foundation of trust? A priest would not be expected to betray the secrets of the confessional; a physician does not disclose the confidence of the consulting room. Robert Hichens in a recent novel makes an effective use of the sacredness of a doctor's obligations to his patient through the ruse employed by a woman of dubious reputation to seal the lips of a specialist by consulting him professionally.

London gossipers have had a curious notion of Sir George Lewis' conception of professional ethics if they expected that he would betray in the form of reminiscences the confidence of his clients.

Clearing the Earth of Nature.
White man's travels, trade, bullets and bacteria are turning Africa into a funeral desert, and weeds are taking the place of its fruit, beautifully balanced floral world. America has been out, cleared and harvested of most wild things until only man's good and evil, wheat and weeds, possess it. Where white man goes either his weeds or his farms must follow. So that by the end of this century the zoological and botanical gardens will be the only place for the lover of nature to see the scant remains of the world's paradise of biologic centuries ago, when all here was a finely balanced, well ordered Garden of Eden, an earth full of the plants and animals that the Bible tells about.

A Careful Queen of Diamonds.
Alexandria of Great Britain is the one queen in Europe who has not lost or broken the family jewels. The British royal ornaments have been preserved with the greatest care, and the only change she has ever made is to have certain of the jewels in the big collection reset to bring them up to the more recent fashionable requirements. Alexandria has been devoted to jewelry, its care and collection ever since her marriage. She has such a collection of diamonds in a specially designed tray of white velvet, and before she retires each night, she personally locks the jewels in her jewelry vaults. The only other person who has a key to those vaults is the Hon. Charlotte Knollys.

Granddad and the Typewriter.
He was a youngster of decided Colton origin. His grandfather had been a Col before him, and so had his great-grandfather. But he was ambitious and bought a typewriter, looking to things higher than the farm upon which his father had been reared. He was pounding the machine when his grandfather came in. The old man stopped and looked. To gaze quizzically, stroking his bit of beard wonderingly. "That's that you have?" asked the old man.

"It's a typewriter," answered the younger man.

"Um—uh, huh?" He paused and watched the boy work the keys.

"Does it work with y'h talk t' it?"

The new issue of the London director provides some curiosities in names. Sebastian Dine is a horse dealer; Robert Bruce and John Hanyan are green grocers; John Milton is a chandler and James Howell a mason.

William Shakespeare in the name of a barrister, a tailor and a van builder. There is a Crusoe and also a Quillver; Julius Caesar is a chemist; Lily keeps apartments; Homer is a lighterman, finding an electrical engineer.

More retail bays and Venus, not inappropriately, sugar candies. Percy Bacon is an architect and Bayard a draftsman. And what would be better for the name of a saddler than Whippy?

A Mistake.
She—Beware of that bottle of champagne our unprincipled hostess would offer you, Henry. There is madness in its contents.

He (reassuringly)—Oh, don't think that, dear, just because you may see it foaming at the mouth.

His Kind.
De Style—You say he uses no judgment in buying presents?

Gumbusta—No; he's the kind of fellow that would buy a pair of kid gloves for the Venus of Milo.

Origin of an Idea.
"Where do you suppose he got his idea for a gyroscope?"

"Some simple incident probably gave him the inspiration. Perhaps from watching an oriental dancing girl."—Kansas City Times.

A Form of Popularity.
"My husband is one of the most popular men in his club," said young Mrs. Torkins proudly.

"I'm sorry to hear that," replied Miss Cayenne. "It indicates that he never wins."

Wouldn't know the Difference. "I couldn't get a box."

"Then we shall have to sit in the orchestra."

"I'm afraid so, my dear. Try it once. You can get just as poor a view of the stage if you sit sideways."

Consolation of Columbus.
Columbus was regretting his discovery had not been named for him.

"However," he mused, "nobody has called me a Spigotty."

Herewith he felt the worst was yet to come.

W. A. RADFORD EDITOR

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 184 Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Fashions in architecture, like women's garments, change, but happily not with the same frequency. Old settlers will recall the observatory style of dwelling in which aristocracy indulged in the early days. Later we borrowed from France the Mansard roof which the French knew how to build and we did not. Then followed the "Queen Anne" with its many gabled pretensions and card thinness of construction.

There is now coming with a broad and irresistible sweep the cemented house, which promises a revolution in the appearance of the west and all other sections of the country. It will find the rural communities and the towns and make them stone. The plastered, or what is frequently styled the "half-timbered" houses originated in the days of the Tudors in England, and many examples remain after three centuries of exposure substantially as good as when put up.

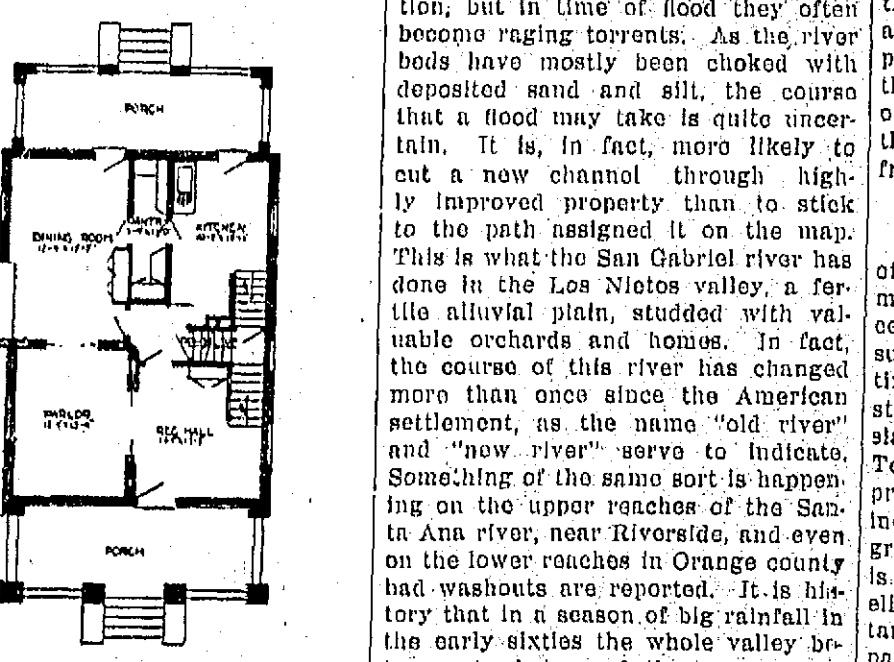

It was first adopted in this country by the wealthy New Englanders for their country residences and seen sections of the country. It lent itself admirably to every feature of an architectural expression, and harmonized well with foliage effects. It then jumped to the great lakes and is now so well established in Chicago and other lake ports that in the fashionable suburbs hardly anything else is seen. The general use of cement in the construction of residences means much to the rural community because an existing unsightly frame house can be quickly and inexpensively covered and thereby be made warmer in winter and cooler in summer, and at the same time have the substantial appearance of a handsome stone house.

Comment when applied as an artificial stone is such in appearance, and is superior in all its qualities to any stone of nature. It is fire proof, wind proof and decay proof and costs hardly any more.

Industrially the impending changes mean much to our modern communities by furnishing employment to a vast number of carpenters, plasterers and cement workers, and will also give an enormous impetus to the manufacture of cement, for which the best kind of material is available almost everywhere.

The house here shown is the Spanish style of architecture and is to be built of concrete blocks. It is a house that possesses individuality in style and is one that would always sell if the owner should at any time want to dispose of it. The reason why it will be salable is simply because it is different from the ordinary house. The home builder or the home buyer always seeks something out of the ordinary. He does not want the conventional house. The model here displayed comes in the class of the distinctive. The massive pillars of the porch, which by the way, can be built of frame work and plastered, impress one as he approaches the house. They give the idea of strength and permanency.

The blocks of the basement or foundation may be 12 inches thick, those of the first floor 10 and those of the second floor 8, providing a shoulder of 28 feet and a length of 33 feet 8 inches. It ought to be

One of the party, willing to learn what the profit was, weighed 10 cents with the banker and was asked to sustain his position.

"Well," he began, "a beehive is a beholder and a beholder is a spectator (speaked later)."

Where There's a Will.
He—"So your husband has given up smoking?" It requires a pretty strong will to accomplish that.

"Well, I'd have understood that," he said, "if you had said, 'I've given up a strong will.'"

INDUSTRY AND MECHANICS

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Banana oil or amyl acetate is a good bronze liquid.

The United Kingdom manufactures 200,000 tons of soap yearly.

For outside painting use a little turpentine with the boiled oil.

Jerusalem is to get a new water supply from springs ten miles from the city.

The sale of white phosphorus matches in Great Britain has been prohibited by parliament.

For the first time in many years Nevada produced a marketable quantity of quicksilver last year.

New Zealand fruit growers have imported 100 owls from Germany to combat their pest of small birds.

Seventy per cent. of the world's supply of campher each year is consumed in the manufacture of celluloid.

The world's largest incubator is in Australia, where it is used to hatch 11,440 ducks' eggs or 14,040 hens' eggs at a time.

Of the world's production of gold in the last 400 years nearly one-half has been produced in the last quarter century.

The humble goat of foreign lands contributes one-third of the value of the skins imported by the United States each year.

A great cement plant is being erected at Orofino, Idaho, involving an initial expenditure of $1,500,000 and will turn out 2,500 barrels a day.

A cover for stationary washbasins that rolls up has been patented by a Massachusetts man to prevent accidents due to solid tops falling upon persons' heads.

Experiments in abrasion at a French mint have proved that aluminum coins will be less rapidly worn by use than coins made of gold, silver or even bronze.

A Kentuckian claims to have much time for bricklayers by his recently patented trowel, which carries a hopper from which the mortar is fed automatically in a smooth, clear stream.

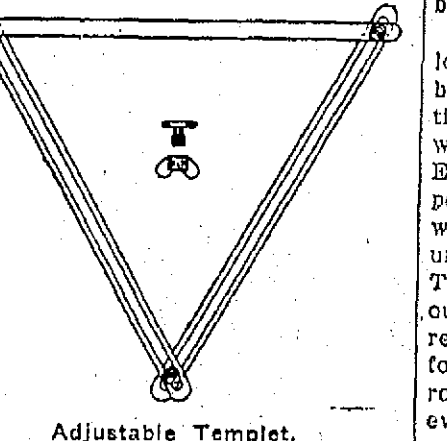

The advance in shipbuilding since the Kiel canal was opened in 1895 has made it necessary for Germany to prepare for an additional expenditure of more than $50,000,000 to widen and deepen it.

HANDY PAPER-CUTTING TOOL

Hanger's Adjustable Templet Will Save Considerable Time—Made Out of Wood.

This handy tool will be found useful, and will save considerable time, in cutting wall paper up the rake of a staircase or where any roof slants, allowing the paper hanger to cut a number of lengths of paper on the paste board at once, where at present it is only customary to cut one at a time, writes I. G. Bayley, in Scientific American.

The tool can be made of wood, and satisfaction obtained, although a better tool can be made from saw steel. Each blade is about three feet in length, two of them being furnished with slots, running almost the full length. Three thumb screws, detailed on a larger scale, will be necessary to hold the frame together after the proper adjustment is obtained. The paper should be hung in position on the wall and outside the tool held along the perpendicular edge of the paper, while one of the other sides of the tool is adjusted to suit the angle of the staircase or slanting roof, and the frame permanently set.

Novel Iron Pavement Blocks.
A novel French pavement consists of blocks made by filling molds with matted iron shavings, or iron excelsior, and then pouring in cement sufficiently fluid to penetrate the entire mass. The blocks have great strength, resistance to abrasion and elasticity under blows or jarring.

Tests have shown a resistance to compression of 150,000 pounds per square inch, and a strength four times as great as that of ordinary cement. It is claimed that joints may be eliminated in this paving of the parts of greatest wear and destruction.

Abundance of Titanium.
It is rather surprising to consider that only eight or nine elements are more abundant than titanium. Chemicals of the United States geological survey find that it makes up about two-fifths of one per cent. of the earth's crust, and exceeds in quantity every other heavy metal, together, except iron. The proportion of iron is about five per cent. The bulk of the crust, it will be remembered, is now metallic, 50 per cent. being oxygen and 25 per cent. silicon.

Peculiar Clay in Panama.
The dredges excavating the Pacific entrance to the Panama canal frequently encounter masses of sticky, variegated clays. Lumps of it have been included into forms, such as paper weights, and because of the peculiar streakings are very attractive.

Carcase Splitting Machine.
A Milwaukee man has patented a carcase splitting machine for packers, consisting of two circular saws, one operating above and in front of the other, to bisect an animal as it is moved along an overhead track.

Must Advance or Recede.
No man or nation can stand still in a world where every form of life has grown out of a lower form where one stage builds on another, as the coral insects build up the islands of the sea nothing can be stationary.

Butter Adulterated with Flint.
Butter that was sold to the English working classes of the fifties was adulterated with ground flint. The flint stones were ground and manipulated into a substance called "soluble silica."

Russia's People.
The population of Russia is actually growing at a rate of one and one-half per cent. a year, not equaled in any important country on the globe, not even in France, does so large a proportion of the population belong to the landowning class, providing necessary conditions for the agricultural prosperity of the coming generation.

Since 1877 the amount of arable land held by the nobility has diminished by a third, and the price of land has risen in every part of the empire.

Device to Consume Rubbish.
Flames, Hot Ashes or Sparks Cannot Escape from Burner While It Is in Use.

There seems to be some urgent demand for a means of consuming the accumulation of paper boxes and similar material, which gather about an ordinary household. The bonfire is of fective, but it is always attended with a considerable element of danger. Wire baskets which have been invented for the purpose reduce this danger very much, but it is said for the newest device for this purpose, which is made of sheet metal and entirely inclosed, that sparks and flames cannot escape and consequently no damage can be done from its use.

Using Oilcloth for Fuel.
Served Nansen and His Men Crossing Great Ice-Cap of Greenland Many Years Ago.

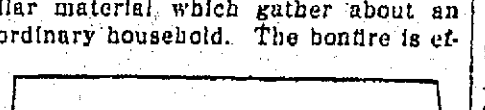

All the materials that go into the making of oilcloth are highly inflammable, but it is seldom that this is used as fuel. The Young's Companion, in crossing the great ice-cap of Greenland, some twenty years ago, Nansen and his men had much difficulty in getting water for any purpose, and it took fuel to melt the ice and snow. Fuel was not to be had from the country and their supply of spirits for burning ran low. Whatever of their outfit was found needless had to be abandoned or put to some other use, and that for which it had been taken. The extreme cold rendered waterproofing useless except for the heat it might supply.

Although the snowshoes were too valuable to be sacrificed, it was desirable that the sledges should be reduced, if possible. Oilcloth covers had been brought for the sleeping bags, but these were found to be unnecessary, and accordingly they were discarded. Everybody felt, however, that simply to leave them would be most unsatisfactory, and someone suggested that oilcloth would make a good fire on which to cook the supper.

All the materials that go into the making of oilcloth are highly inflammable, but it is seldom that this is used as fuel. The Young's Companion, in crossing the great ice-cap of Greenland, some twenty years ago, Nansen and his men had much difficulty in getting water for any purpose, and it took fuel to melt the ice and snow. Fuel was not to be had from the country and their supply of spirits for burning ran low. Whatever of their outfit was found needless had to be abandoned or put to some other use, and that for which it had been taken. The extreme cold rendered waterproofing useless except for the heat it might supply.

Although the snowshoes were too valuable to be sacrificed, it was desirable that the sledges should be reduced, if possible. Oilcloth covers had been brought for the sleeping bags, but these were found to be unnecessary, and accordingly they were discarded. Everybody felt, however, that simply to leave them would be most unsatisfactory, and someone suggested that oilcloth would make a good fire on which to cook the supper.

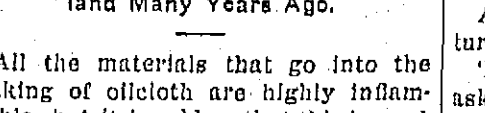

The idea was at once carried into effect, with the further improvement that the fire was lighted inside the tent, and an empty biscuit-tin was pressed into service as a cooking-pot. The oilcloth blazed up splendidly, but most pleasures have their attendant pains, and in a few minutes a horrible black smoke filled the tent and at last blinded the occupants, most of whom took refuge in the sleeping bags, with their heads well covered.

Someone, however, had to stay and look after the teaming, but long before enough snow was melted the tin can began to leak, and a more water-tight vessel had to be found. Eventually the tea was made and disposed of, although at the same time it was agreed that the oilcloth was a most unsatisfactory fuel for use in a small tent. The next morning the fire was made outside, with perfectly satisfactory results, and enough snow was melted for a real thirst-quenching drink all round, which was a treat not enjoyed every day.

A more personal effect of the oilcloth fire was a thick coating of soot over the faces of the company. This continued, and decorated them for many days, washing being entirely at a discount, for water was far too scarce to be used in this way, and even if it had been plentiful, it would have been unwise to apply it to the face, as it seemed to make the skin more liable to crack and peel off under the combined glare of the sun and snow.

TURN OIL FROM SQUARE CAN.
If Held with Opening on Lower Corner Liquid Will Spill Causing Much Waste.

A great many oil cans in which oil is sold are square with the opening at the side or corner. The contents of such a can may be poured out without wasting a drop, if the can is held properly with the opening at the top, says Popular Mechanics. This will permit the can to be tipped so the oil will flow without a surge. If the can is held so the opening is at the lower corner the oil will try to follow down the outside of the can and cause considerable waste.

Vinegar Improves Dates.
Knowing that the Arabs use vinegar to improve ripened dates, A. E. Vinogradoff, Arizona experiment station has tried spraying bunches of the green fruit with acetic acid for 12 or 15 hours, and in three days has produced perfect commercial dates of the best natural flavor. The process may be aided by sunshine or a heat of 110 degrees F. It is anticipated that this process will be of much practical importance, as the dates can be shipped while green and hard, and then ripened after reaching their destination. Other chemicals and ripening effect the flavor being impaired by some.

Her Unintentional Alarm.
Wabash—I thought that engagement between the widow and your friend, A. Q. F. W. E. N. G. Smith, would surely result in their marriage.

Pomery—So did everyone else; but the widow expected too much of Smith. Wabash—What did she want him to do?

Pomery—She has a great many pieces of silverware and intimates to A. Q. F. W. E. N. G. that he would have to bear the expense of having them all re-engraved with his initials.

At the Crossroads.
The motor car tourists, who had just paid a fine for speeding, stopped at the village blacksmith's to have a spring repaired.

"Can't fix it right away," explained the old smith; "there's a job ahead of you."

"Another machine?" asked one of the tourists.

"No, it's the constable's stop watch I've got toinker with. He's used it so much to-day the blamed thing's out of order."

Hitting Back.
Mrs. Stubb—John, what were you conversing with the ashman about?

Mr. Stubb—Why, Maria, I was trying to coax him to smoke those cigars you gave me for a Christmas present.

Mrs. Stubb—Call him back, John.

Mr. Stubb—Ah, you would like to see him take the cigars?

Mrs. Stubb—No, I want him to take some perfume to his wife—you know, dear, the perfume you selected for my Christmas gift.

Amended Version.
Alexander had defeated and captured Porus.

"How do you wish to be treated?" he asked.

"Like a king!" answered Porus, with dignity.

"Good!" exclaimed his conqueror. "I was thinking of using you as a pliant."

For already he was beginning to be stuck on him, as it were.

HER IDEA.
Mrs. Smith—Did your husband swear off on New Year's day?

Mr. Jones—Swear? You ought to have heard him when his collar button rolled under the bed.

Hard Luck.
"Was ever thus, when I have not got scarcely time enough to think some one will always come and invite me to go for a drink!"

Optical Demonstration.
Father—I must study that young man of yours, daughter. I want to see how he takes hold of things that interest him.

Daughter—All right, dad. Just pop out on the piazza suddenly some night.

The Alternative.
"Is this case they are trying now a hanging case?"

"Yes, it's hanging either way."

"How do you mean?"

"They'll hang the prisoner if his lawyer doesn't hang the jury."

Sudden Stops.
Bill—You see, when something happens to the engine an automobile doesn't stop as soon as an automobile does.

Jill—No; but when the aeroplane does stop, everybody in it is apt to know it.—Yonkers Statesman.

Too Bad.
Doctor—It is especially important that you refrain from all handwork for a few weeks.

Patient—But, doctor, it's by handwork that I earn my living.

Doctor—Are you a literary man?

Patient—No, sir; I'm a hairdresser.

Safe.
Tourist—I wonder at your allowing people to mount that ruin.

Native—It's quite safe, sir. It was only built last year.—Bon Vivant.

The Kind.
"I suppose people are beginning to look on trust magnates as snakes, so to speak."

"Yes; regular copperheads."

Her Fortune.
"Did he know when he asked that pretty girl to marry him that she is poor?"

"Yes, he took her at her face value."

A Kindred Subject.
"How did that poet manage to be all the talk?"

"He wrote about a woman's tongue."

Quite a Difference.
"Did the difference ever strike you between the captain of a vessel and a wine exporter?"

"Never thought much about it. What is it?"

"The one ports his ship and the other ships his port."

Wayward Notes.
"Why don't you (e) people you wuz left, Cook or Perry?" inquired the town cat.

"I got enough abuse as it is, replied the wandering one."

It is Different.
"Papa, what is meant by placing a witness under the rule?"

"Why do you wish to know?"

"I was wondering if it is anything like placing a schoolboy under the rule."

Natural Frey.
Belle—They are saying that your own hair is very thin, and would not look half as well if it were not for your rats.

Nell—So they're after my rats—the old cat.

Practical Shop Men Learn to Teach.

Believing that there is a possibility of ordinary shop men of intelligence, with a small amount of academic and professional training, becoming good, or even the best, teachers on industrial education, the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, in connection with the department of manual arts of the university, has organized a class of sixteen journeyman patternmakers in Milwaukee, to learn how to teach industrial subjects.

The experiment has been undertaken in anticipation of the probable demand for industrial teachers to take positions in technical schools which will be organized under the new Wisconsin industrial education law.

The classes meet on alternate Wednesday evenings and the work is personally conducted by Prof. F. D. Crawshaw, head of the manual arts department of the university. The instruction consists of lessons and demonstrations concerning teaching methods in various fields of manual arts.

Courses in wood turning, bench work, machine design, furniture making, and framing, together with the methods of teaching these subjects, are offered. After observing the teaching of the instructor conducting these classes, each student is required to write out the demonstrations and methods of instruction which he would employ in conducting a similar class, and later he is actually required to conduct lessons before the other members of his group, using the methods that he advocated.

"Baby Mine" Coming.

An early booking at Daly's Theatre is Margaret Mayo's "Baby Mine," which critics, press and public of New York and London hail as the funniest play ever written. "Baby Mine" ran for one solid year at Daly's Theatre, New York, and has already reached its second year in London, at the Vanderbilt Theatre. It will shortly be produced in Paris, Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, South America, South Africa and Australia. "Baby Mine" leaves a pleasant taste in the month. William A. Brady Ltd. directs the tour.

Strange on Taft.

The following is taken from a circular written by John Strange, a former Lieutenant Governor and at one time a candidate for Governor, to the people in the vicinity of Appleton shortly before President Taft's visit to that city:

President Taft is scheduled to visit Appleton at an early day, and it is of course behoove the cultured and dignified people of the Fox River Valley to extend him the courtesy and welcome which belongs to the honored position at present in Mr. Taft's keeping.

However, lest we do ourselves injustice, it will be well for us to keep in mind the fact that Mr. Taft has fallen far short of even attempting to do the things his platform contained and his reported campaign promises imposed upon him.

For many months prior to Mr. Taft's nomination at Chicago, the country had been engaged in a bitter contest over a revision of the tariff, and the paramount issue at the convention was as to how tariff should be revised.

Only a specific rule would satisfy the voters, and the rule adopted by that republican convention provided that the tariff would be "the difference in cost of manufacture at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries."

In accepting the nomination, and during all of his subsequent utterances, candidate Taft pledged himself to this rule, and to its honorable and liberal observance.

In order to guide the president in the performance of his promises congress had authorized President Taft to appoint a board of tariff experts to give him information as to the cost of manufacture at home and abroad. This information so acquired to be the guide to him in submitting a message to congress to amend such laws in carrying out the production promises made by the republican party to the people of the United States.

The specific rule laid down in the platform eliminated the question of personal discretion upon the part of President Taft, and he had no right to do other than perform his sacred promise.

That there later appeared a powerful band of law breakers and mercenary pirates demanding the repudiation of the obligations President Taft had committed himself to do, offers no palliation or defense for Mr. Taft, either as a man or as a public official, in his yielding to their demands.

The writer said before the finance committee of the senate of the United States, that such cowardice consistently called for the resignation of the president, and I see no reason for modifying that declaration at this time.

Mr. Taft's unwarranted and silly action in demanding a special session of congress to force a ratification of his one-sided, un-American, cowardly, contradictory, dishonorable, un-American Canadian reciprocity bill, cost this nation over one hundred million dollars directly, and many hundreds of millions of additional dollars, indirectly.

directly. The stinging rebuke of the Canadian voters to Mr. Taft and the cowardly and weak-kneed senators who "kissed by Taft" with their contributing votes should clearly convince them all that they are no longer worthy to be entrusted with the affairs of an honest, patriotic and progressive nation.

There is consolation in the knowledge that a very respectable minority of the newspaper and magazine publishers remained loyal to the traditions and honor of the great policies of the republican party, thus again verifying the old truth that minorities are generally honest and right.

Mr. Taft's present campaign of apologies, defenses and explanations is inconsistent with the dignity and duty of the presidency of the United States. He should return to his official duties and serve out his term henceforth, with undivided soul to the people.

JOHN STRANGE.

Organize Alfalfa Clubs.

When a few weeks ago it was announced that alfalfa clubs would be organized in every Wisconsin county many were inclined to think that a radical step was about to be taken. They were not aware of the fact that the people behind this move had studied the situation for many years and were sure of their footing before they started the movement. The 1910 census throws some light upon the alfalfa crop in the various parts of the country that is of interest.

Therefore it has generally been thought that the west, and especially the irrigated states, had a great advantage over Wisconsin in the production of alfalfa. Let us see what the census figures disclose:

acres value value per acre
Idaho 308,392 $6,821,480 $21.48
Colorado 505,382 9,700,100 19.08
Wisconsin 17,985 561,988 31.24

Idaho is the only state for which the figures on irrigated acres alone are available at this time and we find that the value of irrigated alfalfa per acre is $28.47 which is $6.77 per acre less than Wisconsin.

Of the states in the humid belt for which the figures are available, we find that Iowa had 90,141 acres with a value of $24.05 per acre and Michigan 6,653 acres with a value of $24.45 per acre. This showing for Wisconsin alfalfa will be an encouragement to Wisconsin farmers who have been led to believe that the state was not well adapted to the production of alfalfa; they show that the people back of the movement for forming alfalfa clubs know what they were about, and that the general introduction of alfalfa will add millions of dollars per year to Wisconsin's annual agricultural output.

(Too Late for Last Week.)
A Happy New Year!
Mrs. Peep returned to her home in Cottage Grove Thursday. She was accompanied home by her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stoffel.

Paul Passer returned Saturday to Fort Atkinson after a few days visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Passer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cejka and children of Bryant are visiting at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mollet.

Miss Sadie Cowell is again on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robinson of Ansel, Minn., spent the holidays with relatives here.

We hear Mrs. Roehrig is still improving after her serious operation at the Augustana Hospital at Chicago. We hope she will continue to do so.

Mrs. V. E. Wilson won the New Home sewing machine given away in the Xmas contest by the State Center.

Miss Mary LaVigne resumed her school duties in District No. 8 Jan. 2nd after a weeks vacation.

Pleasant Hill

Happy New Year.
Peter Hansen was called to Kaukauna by the sudden death of his mother. He has the sympathy of his friends in his bereavement. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lowell are attending to the farm duties during his absence.

Miss Ida Christensen is spending her vacation with her parents.

Mrs. Volborg Stenlund of Madison arrived Thursday to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Christensen.

There was no preaching Sunday on account of the blizzard. There is enough snow for good sleighing.

The following officers were elected in the Sunday school for the coming year: Supr., Harold Panning; Asst. Supr., P. H. Likos; organist, Mrs. H. Panning; Asst. Mrs. P. H. Likos; Sec., Harry Johnson; Asst., Lewis Panning; Lib., Hobart Robertson; Asst., Lucia Peters.

Fred Fox and Miss Ada Peters were married Monday, Jan. 1st at Vesper by Rev. Brown. They were married at the parsonage. Immediately after the ceremony they took the train for the southern part of the state on their wedding trip where they will visit their relatives. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peters and is held in high esteem by all who know her. The groom has a large circle of friends and is well liked by everyone. He is an industrious young man. He has routed the Lee farm for another year where they will be at home to their many friends. Our best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Fitzgerald returned on Tuesday from her home at Withee where she spent her vacation. Her school started Jan. 2nd.

Mrs. Erdman is reported not to be as well as last week.

Mrs. Aug. Hershberg is entertaining her brother from the southern part of the state.

There will be no literary society this month.

The farmers institute will be Jan. 11-13 at Pittsville. Be sure and attend. An entertainment in the evening of the 11th.

FOURTEEN MILE CREEK

(Too Late for Last Week.)
A bright and happy New Year to all.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scored of Grand Rapids Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

—To filter the blood is the kidney's duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Help the kidneys do their work.

Dan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of severe cases.

Proof in the following:
Mrs. B. Dolan, Plainfield, Wis., says: "For months I suffered from kidney and bladder complaint and the aches and pains in my back were almost unbearable. My head ached considerably and I was so miserable at night that I could not rest. I had dizzy spells and was always tired and languid. Being advised to try Dan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply and I am glad to say that their use brought me great benefit." (Statement given in July, 1907.)

NO TROUBLE SINCE.
On Sept. 8, 1910 Mrs. Dolan said: "There has been no serious recurrence of kidney complaint in my case, I gladly endorse Dan's Kidney Pills again."

Conditions in West Serious.
Reports from the far west are that the winter is not going well with that section of the world, owing to lack of work and an acute situation in the building trade. If any in this section are dissatisfied with Wisconsin and have the Oregon fever, let them read carefully the following from the Portland (Ore.) Daily News:

"Starvation is stalking about the streets and women in this city, and the worst can be heard howling in the streets; families of the poor are existing for a week on less than is used or wasted in a day in the homes of the wealthy, and it looks like there will be more 'poverty and privation' than 'peace and good will' in some parts of Portland on Christmas day this nineteenth hundred and eleventh year of our Lord."

"The Rosary"

A new play to be produced in this city at Daly's Theatre on Thursday, Jan. 11th is "The Rosary" and May-Vig's beautiful production, "The Rosary," from the pen of Edward E. Ross.

The play deals with the conditions in the American home of the present day.

In some homes the cause has only just begun, while in others misery and sorrow are always at the door. "The Rosary" had a three months run in Chicago, two months in New York City and three months at the Globe theatre, Boston.

Former Bull
Fighter's Museum

For 46 years the Corona family had occupied the plain two-story house called "Casa de Corona" on the Vega canal, in the dilapidated village known as El Puento del Jamaica. This village is reached now by the Ixtapalapa electric car, being the first step beyond the head of the canal, and: whatever of fame or interest it enjoys. It derives solely from the old house at the southern extremity of its one street, the house of Corona, which contains the bull fighter's museum.

A morning is ample time for the trip. Lillian Webster says in the Mexican Herald, and while people from the four corners of the world have discovered this museum, as the register reveals, there are many people in the city who have hardly heard of it; yes, to the lover of the quaint, curious and historic "it is certainly" well worth a visit, for Juan Corona, who some 25 years was gathering from here, there and everywhere a valuable collection of curiosities. He was a Sunday bull fighter and used to fight in the Bucareli ring, which does not exist now, but every day in the week he was a collector and a philanthropist, who by his generosity and kindness endeared himself not only to the people of his own village but to all people with whom he came in contact. He died 21 years ago, but his daughter, a kind,

The Debt to Imagination.

Millions have watched the kettle boiling and the skias flashing lightning, but it took the imagination of a Watt and a Franklin to start steam and electricity to moving the world. It is to imagination that earth owes most. It has taught us how to make life beautiful; to turn the stumbling blocks of nature into helpful forces; even now to make of unwilling nature herself a tireless slave to serve helpless man. Imagination is indispensable in creating science, art, literature and music. Therefore a bright, strong imagination is one of the finest things with which a child can be endowed into this world; and a child blessed with an unusual imagination is automatically a person of precious value to the times. For it is from such that progress and most advancements must come, because the cock to ten hens is sufficient, these should be separated until the breeding season begins.

One of the greatest problems that a turkey raiser faces is that of separating the eggs. Various people follow different methods.

The egg crop is said by an authority to be worth 60 per cent. of the output and you know the poultry output is pretty large.

A farmer is best fitted for turkey raising because he has a place for the roan and it is the nature of a turkey to demand a broad feeding ground.

If you keep guineas, turkeys and geese, build separate houses for each. If you confine all three varieties in one yard during the winter it will prove disastrous.

Value of Litter. The great value of litter in the house is to provide satisfaction and exercise for the fowls. If they are small grain scattered through or two or three of straw they are to put in a lot of hard work and find it

Room for Setting Hens.—Many careful experiments have developed that the best success in setting hens is secured by having them exclusively for hatching purposes. Boxes having hinged slatted sides just high enough to comfort the bird in a good nest and and one side a little room to spare, are very used.

To Soften Water.—Give a small quantity of pipe to the water. This will make it rain water.

getting the heat from the lamp to the eggs may be by a tank of hot water or by a circulation of warm air.

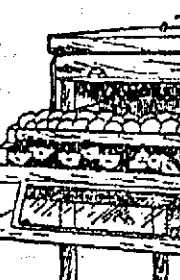

The first method has in the past been the more common. The tank of hot water retains the heat and the eggs are less subject to sudden variations in temperature.

The ventilation of an incubator is of vital importance. The rate of evaporation must also be considered. Eggs lose much of their water during incubation. If the evaporation varies much from the normal amount good hatches cannot be secured.

The rate of evaporation is determined by three things: the temperature, the humidity, and the circulation of the air. Theoretically it would be best to supply air at a given rate and containing a certain percentage of moisture, but in the commercial incubator such an arrangement is impractical.

The most practical system of controlling evaporation is a system of would be a room in the house away from the fire or from windows.

Drafts of air blowing on the machines are especially to be avoided. Not only do they affect the temperature directly, but cause the lamp to burn irregularly, and this may result in fire.

Before me lies the photograph of a Plymouth Rock hen that laid 251 eggs in a year at the Maine experiment station, and she appears to be about the craggiest, ill-shaped hen in the lot, but another picture of a Wyandotte hen shows her to be a beauty in shape, but her record shows that she laid just six eggs in a year.

When it comes to egg type it doesn't exist. The trap nest is the only way to select the best layers, although good ones may be selected if we know how to do it.

Air and Sunlight.
In poultry house construction two very essential things to be considered are fresh air and sunlight. The sunlight is especially valuable in the winter time for it assists in making the house warm, and also the fowls admit all the sunlight possible in the winter time.

FOR THE STUFFED POTATOES

Just Bake, and Then Add the Various Ingredients as They Are Given in This Recipe.

Select six medium-sized potatoes, wash and put them into the oven to bake; when they are found to be soft and evenly baked, take them from the oven and cut off one end, remove the inside without tearing the skin; boil in the cooked part of the potato one teaspoonful of butter, one-half cupful of rich milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of pepper, the yolk of one egg; chop or grind very fine cold roast beef to make one cupful; to this add one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of the pepper, a pinch of ground mace, one teaspoonful of melted butter, one teaspoonful of chopped celery, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, one teaspoonful of best bread crumbs. Fill the potato skins with the prepared potato, leaving a small space in the center, in which put the seasoned beef with a little butter to brown them. Put them into the oven and heat until the ends are brown; take out and stick a small piece of of salt. Add gradually to the egg whites, beating constantly. Pipe lightly in a glass dish, chill thoroughly and serve with boiled custard.

Chocolate Fudge.

Two cupsful of granulated sugar, one cupful sweet milk, two squares bitter chocolate, one-half teaspoonful butter, one teaspoonful vanilla, pinch of salt. Boil over steam five minutes adding vanilla and butter after removing from fire. Pour upon a marble slab and stir with a pancake turner until cool. Follow this recipe closely and you will always have creamy fudge.

Macaroni with Oysters.

To scallop macaroni and oysters have ready boiled macaroni and cover the bottom of a buttered baking dish with it. Over it put a layer of oysters and some white sauce. Cover with the macaroni and again with the oysters. Repeat sauce and continue until the dish is full. Cover the top with buttered crumbs and bake upon the top

Potatoes in the Half Shell.
Wash, carefully, scrub and bake as many potatoes as desired. Cut them in halves lengthwise and scoop out the potatoe. Add one tablespoonful of butter, a half cupful of hot milk, the whites of two eggs beaten stiff and salt and pepper to taste. Fill the potato skins, heaping up the mixture, put into the oven and brown slightly.

Spanish Buns.
Four ounces of flour, four ounces of ground rice, four ounces of butter, four ounces of sugar, two eggs, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder and a quarter teaspoonful of rose extract.
Beat the butter and sugar to a cream; mix in the flour and rice, alternately with the egg well beaten, a little of each at a time, then add the baking powder and rose extract and at once put into a tin lined with greased paper. Bake in a moderately quick oven.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine if there were differences in the prevalence of musculoskeletal disorders among different types of workers. The study included 600 male employees from a large manufacturing company who had been employed for at least one year. They were divided into three groups based on their job type: manual laborers, machine operators, and office workers. Data were collected through self-reported questionnaires and medical records. Results showed that manual laborers had the highest prevalence of musculoskeletal disorders, followed by machine operators, while office workers had the lowest prevalence.

Practical Shop Men Learn to Teach.

Believing that there is a possibility of ordinary shop men of intelligence, with a small amount of academic and professional training, becoming good, or even the best, teachers on industrial education, the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, in connection with the department of manual arts of the university, has organized a class of sixteen journeyman patternmakers in Milwaukee, to learn how to teach industrial subjects.

The experiment has been undertaken in anticipation of the probable demand for industrial teachers to take positions in technical schools which will be organized under the new Wisconsin industrial education law.

Classes meet on alternate Wednesday evenings and the work is personally conducted by Prof. F. D. Cawshaw, head of the manual arts department of the university. The instruction consists of lessons and demonstrations concerning teaching methods in various fields of manual arts.

"Baby Mine" Coming.

An early looking at Daly's Theatre is Margaret Mayo's "Baby Mine," which critics, press and public of New York and London hail as the funniest play ever written. "Baby Mine" ran for one solid year at Daly's Theatre, New York, and has already reached its second year in London, at the Vanderville Theatre. It will shortly be produced at Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, South America, South Africa and Australia. "Baby Mine" leaves a pleasant taste in the month. William A. Brady Ltd. directs the tour.

Strange on Taft.

The following is taken from a circular written by John Strange, a former Lieutenant Governor and at one time a candidate for Governor, to the people in the vicinity of Appleton shortly before President Taft's visit to that city:

President Taft is scheduled to visit Appleton at an early day, and it of course behooves the cultured and dignified people of the Fox River Valley to extend him the courtesy and welcome which belongs to the exalted position at present in Mr. Taft's keeping.

However, lest we do ourselves injustice, it will be well for us to keep in mind the fact that Mr. Taft has fallen far short of even attempting to do the things his platform promises imposed upon him.

For many months prior to Mr. Taft's nomination at Chicago, the country had been engaged in a bitter contest over a revision of the tariff, and the paramount issue at the convention was as to how tariff should be revised.

Only a specific rule would satisfy the voters, and the rule adopted by that republican convention provided that the tariff would be "the difference in cost of manufacture at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries."

In accordance with the nomination, and during all of his subsequent utterances, candidate Taft pledged himself to this rule, and to its honorable and literal observance.

In order to guide the president in the performance of his promises congress had authorized President Taft to appoint a board of tariff experts to give him information as to the cost of manufacture at home and abroad. The information so acquired to be the guide to him in submitting a message to congress to assist both houses in carrying out the pre-election promises made by the republican party to the people of the United States.

The specific rule laid down in the platform eliminated the question of personal discretion upon the part of President Taft, and he had no right to do other than perform his sacred promises.

That there later appeared a powerful band of law breakers and mercenary plotters demanding the repudiation of the obligations President Taft had committed himself to do, offers no palliation or defense for Mr. Taft, either as a man or as a public official, in his yielding to their behests.

The writer said before the finance committee of the senate of the United States, that such cowardice consistently called for the resignation of the president, and I see no reason for modifying that declaration at this time.

Mr. Taft's unwarranted and silly action in demanding a special session of congress to force a ratification of his one-sided, un-American, cowardly, contradictory, dishonorable, misnamed Canadian Reciprocity bill, cost this nation over one hundred million dollars directly, and many hundreds of millions of additional dollars, indirectly.

The stingiest rebuke of the Canadian voters to Mr. Taft and the cowardly and weak-kneed senators who "stood by Taft" with their contributing votes should clearly convince them all that they are no longer worthy to be entrusted with the affairs of an honest, patriotic and progressive nation.

There is consolation in the knowledge that a very respectable minority of the newspaper and magazine publishers remained loyal to the traditions and honor of the great policies of the republican party, thus again verifying the old truism that minorities are generally honest and right.

Mr. Taft's present campaign of apologies, defenses and explanations is inconsistent with the dignity and duty of the presidency of the United States. He should return to his official duties and serve out his term henceforth, with minimum cost to the people.

Organize Alfalfa Clubs.

When a few weeks ago it was announced that alfalfa clubs would be organized in every Wisconsin county many were inclined to think that a radical step was about to be taken.

They were not aware of the fact that the people behind this move had studied the situation for many years and were sure of their footing before they started the movement. The 1910 census throws some light upon the alfalfa crop in the various parts of the country that is of interest.

Heretofore it has generally been thought that the west, and especially the irrigated states, had a great advantage over Wisconsin in the production of alfalfa. Let us see what the census figures disclose:

State	Acres	Value	Value per acre
Idaho	308,892	$5,631,460	$21.48
Colorado	508,892	9,703,100	19.08
Wisconsin	17,988	561,983	31.24

Idaho is the only state for which the figures on irrigated areas alone are available at this time and we find that the value of irrigated alfalfa per acre is $22.47 which is $8.77 per acre less than Wisconsin.

Of the states in the humid belt for which the figures are available, we find that Iowa had 39,141 acres with a value of $24.05 per acre and Michigan 5,558 acres with a value of $24.45 per acre. This showing for Wisconsin alfalfa farmers who have been led to believe that the state was not well adapted to the production of alfalfa; they show that the people back of the movement for forming alfalfa clubs knew what they were about, and that the general introduction of alfalfa will add millions of dollars per year to Wisconsin's annual agricultural output.

ARPIN

(Too Late for Last Week.)

A Happy New Year!
Mrs. Peepers returned to her home in Cottage Grove Thursday. She was accompanied home by her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stofflet.

Paul Passer returned Saturday to Fort Atkinson after a few days visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Passer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oejka and children of Bryant are visiting at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mollet.

Miss Sadie Cowell is again on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robinson of Austin, Minn., spent the holidays with relatives here.

We hear Mrs. Roehrig is still improving after her serious operation at the Argenta Hospital at Chicago.

We hope she will continue to do so. Mrs. V. E. Wilson won the New Home sewing machine given away in the Xmas contest by the State Center.

Miss Mary LaVigne resumed her school duties in District No. 3 Jan. 2nd after a weeks vacation.

Pleasant Hill

Happy New Year.
Peter Hansen was called to Kaukauna by the sudden death of his mother. He has the sympathy of his friends in his bereavement. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lowell are attending to the farm duties during his absence.

Miss Ida Christensen is spending her vacation with her parents.

Mrs. Volberg Stonedall of Madison arrived Thursday to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Christensen.

There was no preaching Sunday on account of the blizzard. There is enough snow for good sleighing.

The following officers were elected in the Sunday school for the coming year: Supt., Harold Pinning; Asst. Supt., P. H. Likes; organist, Mrs. H. Pinning; Asst., Mrs. P. H. Likes; Sec., Harry Johnson; Asst., Lewis Pinning; Lib., Robert Robertson; Asst., Leota Peters.

Fred Fox and Miss Ada Peters were married Monday, Jan. 1st at Vesper by Rev. Brown. They were married at the parsonage. Immediately after the ceremony they took the train for the southern part of the state on their wedding trip where they will visit their relatives. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peters and is held in high esteem by all who know her. The groom has a large circle of friends and is well liked by everyone. He is an industrious young man. He has rented the Lee farm for another year where they will be at home to their many friends. Our best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Fitzgerald returned on Tuesday from her home at Withee where she spent her vacation. Her school started Jan. 2nd.

Mrs. Erdman is reported not to be as well as last week.

Mrs. Aug. Herzberg is entertaining her brother from the southern part of the state.

There will be no literary society this month.

FOURTEEN MILE CREEK

(Too Late for Last Week.)

A bright and happy New Year to all.

Mrs. Ida Briggan, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Feavel at Elderon, Wis., and also friends in Michigan, has returned home.

Little Archie Phelps was on the sick list last week.

Miss Ida Milner, who has been working in Minnesota, has returned to her home in Grand Rapids and is also visiting old friends in this town.

Clyde Winegarden, who has been working in Brandon, Wis., has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Miller and two children of Grand Marsh spent Xmas with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jero.

Miss Ada Green closed her school for the past two weeks on account of smallpox and returned to her home near Hancock.

We are sorry to hear that James Irwin's family is all sick with the smallpox except Fred and Mr. Irwin himself. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Mr. Wollert of Fond du Lac has moved his family on his farm formerly owned by F. M. Ross.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Grand Rapids Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

—To filter the blood is the kidney's duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Help the kidneys do their work. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of severe cases.

Proof in the following: Mrs. B. Dolan, Plainfield, Wis., says: "For months I suffered from kidney and bladder complaint and the aches and pains in my back were almost unbearable. My head ached considerably and I was so miserable at night that I could not rest. I had dizzy spells and was always tired and languid. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply and I am glad to say that their use brought me great benefit." (Statement given in July, 1907.)

NO TROUBLE SINCE.

On Sept. 8, 1910 Mrs. Dolan said: "There has been no serious recurrence of kidney complaint in my case. I gladly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills again."

BABCOCK

(Too Late for Last Week.)

Miss Solma Kruger of your city, one of our teachers here, was married to Glenn Cooper of Rudolph on Christmas day, but Mrs. Cooper will stay and teach the school year out. She is giving such good satisfaction in the school, it would be hard to get anyone at this season of the year to take the work up, and do as well as she is doing, and the school patrons are very much pleased that she consented to remain.

A Mr. Orcutt from up the line was an over Sunday visitor at the Aug. Miller home.

Mrs. Sam Griffith was a business caller in your city on Saturday.

Mrs. T. Stiles, who has been spending the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. E. Crotteau, at Virginia, Minn., came home Saturday evening.

The Methodist Ladies Aid Society met with Mrs. A. Hofer on Wednesday afternoon.

Our village schools commenced Monday morning after a two weeks vacation.

F. Karboski, who has resided about four miles in the country on his farm for several years, has rented a house in town and will try city life for a while. He has rented the farm to his son John.

There will be services in the M. E. church next Sunday.

Olus, Wright of Tomah was visiting his friend M. Miller for a day or two last week.

Mrs. G. O. Stout came home Sunday from Rudolph where she had been spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dickson.

Conditions in West Serious.

Reports from the far west are that the winter is not going well with that section of the world, owing to lack of work and an acute situation in the building trade. If any in this section are disaffected with Wisconsin and have the Oregon fever, let them read carefully the following from the Portland (Ore.) Daily News:

"Starvation is stalking giant cheeked men and women in this city, and the wolf can be heard howling in the streets; families on less than a crust are existing for a week, on less than a crust; and in a day in the homes of the wealthy, and it looks like there will be more 'poverty and privation' than 'peace and good will' in some parts of Portland on Christmas day. This nineteen hundred and eleventh year of our Lord."

"The Rosary."

A new play to be produced in this city at Daly's Theatre on Thursday, Jan. 11th is Gaskell and MacVitty's beautiful production, "The Rosary," from the pen of Edward B. Rose.

The play deals with the conditions in the American home of the present day.

In some homes the cause has only just begun, while in others misery and sorrow are always at the door.

"The Rosary" had a three months run in Chicago, two months in New York City and three months at the Globe theatre, Boston.

Abel & Podawiltz Co.

Grand Rapids, INCORPORATED Wisconsin.

The Farmers' Institute closed Wednesday afternoon and Mr. Stiles, the institute conductor, stated that this institute was the best attended and most delightful institute held this winter in the state. At one session there were over 800 farmers in the hall. The farmers themselves made good use of their time by asking questions and commenting freely on all the topics up for discussion. The prizes were awarded as follows: By—1st, A. Zimmerman; 2nd, Chas. Jensen; 3rd, Fred Schultz. Barley—1st, A. Bukowski; 2nd, Paul Kroll; 3rd, J. Dougherty. Oats—1st, A. Bukowski; 2nd, Fred Hase; 3rd, John Johnson. Potatoes—1st, C. VanAston; 2nd, John Umholt; 3rd, J. B. Atkins. Corn—1st, J. B. Atkins; 2nd, Paul Kroll; 3rd, John Granger. We have experienced the coldest weather the past week, that we have had in many a year. It is reported the mercury dropped to 88 degrees below 0 Sunday morning. It had registered 38 to 40 most of the week. It snowed all Sunday night and was warmer Monday. Sleighing is good where the roads are not drifted. If you don't believe it ask Jim Carow where he left his load of wood Monday.

The Leiza Rayome home was quarantined last week on account of small pox.

Babe Crotteau's children are well now and the small pox sign was removed last Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Jackson are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby girl born Sunday, Jan. 7th. Mother and babe are getting along fine.

Mrs. Glen Cooper, nee Selma Kruger departed Sunday night for Hahook to resume her school duties. Mrs. Mose Sharkey has gone to Crystal Falls to visit her daughter, Mrs. Ole Orogan, nee Myrtle Sharkey.

A number of our farmers have lost lots of potatoes during the past cold spell and in one instance even the canned fruit froze.

Miss Mary Kujawa went to Biron Thursday noon to visit Alice Teator until Friday night.

Jim Carow spent a few days in Chippewa Falls last week.

Mrs. Frank Whitman is suffering with a severe cold.

On account of the cold weather Friday evening the wrestling match between Little and Hibbard was postponed indefinitely.

Mary Kujawa returned to Stevens Point Sunday noon after spending the holiday vacation at home.

Arne Rattalo returned Wednesday from Stratford where he was working. One of Andrew Johnson's horses which he was driving has a sore leg so he brought the team home and will spend the rest of the winter with his brother Nick.

Mrs. Geo. Elliott was a caller in your city Tuesday of the past week.

Misses Ella Latos and Hazel Nelson of Grand Rapids came up Sunday noon to resume their school work.

Joe Marshall spent Sunday in Daney. Miss Rose Hobbits of Daney spent New Years day and Tuesday here.

Misses Grace and Alice Carow of Chippewa Falls were guests at the home of their uncle, Wm. Carow from Thursday till Saturday noon.

Jim Carow and sister Miss Helen were shoppers in your city Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mike Mason of Grand Rapids spent New Years night and a few days after with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Jacoby.

Ailin Kujawa returned to Stevens Point Thursday morning.

CRANMOOR

Ed. Kruger drove to Grand Rapids Thursday with a load of sheep for market.

That Alaska or Arctic Zephyr struck Cranmoor as well as the surrounding country last Friday and all the able bodied have been kept busy hustling in fuel and carrying out ashes. Our J. W. Pihl says "mercury has not been so low for thirteen years. Then it went to 64 degrees below and we had three or four weeks of very low temperature."

Miss Minnie Kruger left on the noon train Saturday to re-open school in the Broot district Monday.

Miss Eulalia Markoe, who has been spending the vacation at her home in Anandale, returned Saturday to resume school Monday. While en route, Miss Markoe had the misfortune to freeze an ear, which is causing considerable discomfort.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Clinton are entertaining a nephew and his wife and little son from Oshkosh.

During the storm something happened to our telephone line and for nearly a week we were out from the outside world. Everyone could sympathize with Manager Searle's reluctance to locate the trouble with the thermometer 40 degrees below.

Hobert, Mary and Evelyn Foley braved the elements Sunday and drove to Armonia returning Monday.

Mr. Cotsy of Pittsville is superintending the shipping of baled hay from the Arpla Co's marsh.

Mr. Chase is also making into bales and shipping out a quantity of hay out on his lands southeast of the Cohn property.

Thomas Rezin was a Nekosha trader Monday.

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers' Association convened in Grand Rapids Tuesday. S. N. Whittleson, J. W. Fitch and Frank Patterson were among the number that went up on the five o'clock train Monday not caring to take chances on a cold wait for a probable delayed morning train Tuesday.

Dr. Bredfield Goes to Badger State.

Hancock Journal.—Dr. William Bredfield, for seven years of Hancock's popular practitioners of chiropractic, leaves this evening for Grand Rapids, Wis., where he will form a partnership with Dr. F. T. Hoff and establish an office. Dr. Hoff will take charge of the outside work, while Dr. Bredfield will take care of the operating and the consultations. Hancock friends regret to lose the amiable doctor, whose familiar figure will be greatly missed. Dr. Bredfield has more than ordinary ability in his profession, and his cheerful disposition and straight forward, old-fashioned honesty have won him admiration. Hancock does not lose a good citizen, but it realizes that "what is our loss will be Grand Rapids' gain."

"Baby Mine" Coming.

The announcement of the prospective visit to Daly's Theatre of Margaret Mayo's "Baby Mine" should be the means of crowding the opera house to its limit when this fanniest of all funny plays is presented here for the first time. "Baby Mine" is under the direction of William A. Brady Ltd., and has a record which no other play in the history of the theatre has ever enjoyed. The comedy ran for one solid year at Daly's Theatre, New York, and is now in its second year in London, at the Vaudeville Theatre. Productions are also scheduled for Paris, Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, South America, South Africa and Australia. "Baby Mine" is built for laughing purposes only, and is full of rip-roaring, wholesome comedy.

Held Open Installation.

The newly elected officers of the Catholic Foresters held a joint installation on Wednesday evening of last week, which was attended by a large crowd from this city and Nekoosa. John Glennon, one of the editors of the Stevens Point Gazette installed the men Foresters and Mrs. J. J. Looze acted installing officer for the Lady Foresters.

After the installation addresses were made by Rev. Redding, Rev. Feldman and John Glennon, after which the young people indulged in a social hop until twelve o'clock.

Henry Niemi, who had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Niemi in this city over the holidays, left for his home in Kenosha on Thursday. Henry is running a shoe repairing shop in Kenosha and reports that he is getting along nicely.

Ray Love, who has been looking after the interests of the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., has moved back to Grand Rapids and is again back in the Company's office at Port Edwards.

Oconto Enterprises.—H. M. Sanderson has sold his hotel business at Hampton, Iowa, and expects to move to Minneapolis, where he will engage in business. Harry was formerly connected with the Boyer House in this city and is the son of the present proprietor, J. M. Sanderson.

Catholic organizations throughout the country have assisted materially in making "The Rosary," the big hit it has proved to be everywhere.

The past week has been a hard one on the trainmen all over the northern country. The heavy snow of the fore part of the week followed by continuous cold weather has caused all of the trains to be late, adding to the general disgruntlement of the work.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wilcott and family, who have made their home at Elron for some years past, where Mr. Wilcott has been superintendent of the Elron paper mill, expect to leave the latter part of the week for Greenfield, Mass., to make their home. During their residence here the Wilcotts have made many friends who will be sorry to know that they are going to leave.

"The Rosary," which will be seen here soon, will be produced next summer in Australia by the owners, Gaskell and MacVitty.

Mrs. Fanny Thompson and Mrs. J. N. Brundage made a business trip to Milwaukee on Saturday, returning home (the same evening).

Mrs. Maggie Plummer of Duluth returned to her home last week after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Daly.

W. A. Marling of Madison, one of the proprietors of the Marling Lumber Co., transacted business in the city several days the past week.

Alderman Wm. Pribnow is at Fifield for several weeks looking after the leading and sealing of hub timbers for the P. Mackinson Mfg. Co.

Rev. Fred Staff of the Congregational church left on Monday evening for Cuba where he expects to spend a few weeks in a warmer climate, supporting his health. He also expects to visit the homes of Pannau before his return.

Gay Potter, who has been at Greenfield, Neb., for some time past, arrived in the city on Monday to attend to some business matters and visit his people for a few days. Upon his return to Nebraska his headquarters will be at Waterloo.

The stock company that held forth at Daly's Theatre last week did very little business owing to the extremely cold weather that prevailed all the week. Very few people were on the street that were not obliged to go, so that all places of amusement were very lightly attended.

Owing to the extremely cold weather the wrestling match which was to have been held between John Little and Red Blumard at Rudolph last Friday night was called off.

Several of our local sports who had intended to go up backed out at the last moment on account of the cold.

Dr. and Mrs. V. P. Norton entertained a party of friends on Friday evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Upright, who arrived in the city that day on their return from their wedding tour. A dinner was served the guests and a very pleasant evening was spent by those present.

Gaskell and MacVitty expect to receive recognition from the Irish Envoys, when they bring "The Rosary" to Ireland next summer, owing to the satisfaction that these gentlemen expressed about the morals of the play in Toronto last fall.

The fellow with an income of six hundred dollars a year and eleven children to support is not worrying a bit whether the supreme court decides for or against the income tax. The man with an income of $10,000 a year says that it is class legislation and is unconstitutional.

The cold weather of last week kept the local plumbers hustling as never before, fixing leaks caused by frozen pipes and similar troubles. One of the plumbers reports that he received 42 calls for his services in one evening, and being able to be in only 30 places at once, several people were disappointed.

School and town order books for sale at the Tribune office.

They tell a story about a colored gentleman that went into a hardware store at Nekoosa to buy a razor. The gentleman of color was a stranger and the proprietor of the store hustled around and showed him everything he had in stock, but was unable to please him. At last the hardware man took out some safety razors, thinking possibly he might be able to dispose of one of the new fangled arrangements to his prospective customer. "Here's the Shaver, the Cut 'em Quick, the Never Dull, and—' 'Oh, blow 'em 'heart' replied the colored gentleman. 'Aw wants dis for social functions, exclusively.'"

WILL RETAIN HIS SECRETS

Refusing British Barrister Has No Thought of Giving Reminiscences to the World.

Following his retirement from active practice the eminent British barrister, Sir George Lewis, announces that he has kept no diary of the celebrated court cases in which he was retained, and that he will not publish his reminiscences, and the fact is reported to have brought "great relief" to many persons socially prominent in England.

In the course of half a century Sir George Lewis has appeared in many famous cases and been a trusted adviser in domestic difficulties. What he might tell of the "Trinity" case would, the Collyer Campbell divorce suit, the Pearson investigation, and the case of the baronetess, whose death by poison has remained an unsolved mystery—the disclosure of these and other legal secrets of a lifetime spent at the bar would give to his memoirs a scandalous interest.

But the fact for note is that any apprehension could have existed in England of a possible breach of confidence of this kind by a lawyer of the highest standing. It is assumed that the confidential relations between counsel and client rest on no slight a foundation of trust. A pilot would not be expected to betray the secrets of the confidential, and the same does not disclose the confidences of the consulting room. Robert B. Lewis in a recent novel makes an effective use of the secret of a doctor's obligations to his patient through the case employed by a woman of dubious reputation to seal the lips of a specialist by consulting him privately.

London gazettes have had a curious notion of Sir George Lewis' conception of professional ethics if they expected that he would betray the confidence of his clients.

Clearing the Earth of Bacteria. White men, travelers, traders, and bacteria are turning Africa into a funeral home, and weeds are taking the place of its great, beautiful, balanced floral world. America has been cut, cleared and harvested of its wild things until only weeds, grass and evil, wheat and weeds, possess it. Where white man goes either his weeds or his fauna must follow. So that by the end of this century the zoological and botanical gardens will be the only place for the study of the wild things of the world's paradise of biologic centuries ago, when all life was a finely balanced, well ordered garden of Eden, an earth full of the plants and animals that the Bible tells about.

A Careful Queen of Diamonds. Alexandra of Great Britain is the one queen in Europe who has not lost or broken the family jewels. The British royal crown has been preserved with the greatest care, and the only change she has ever made is to have certain of the jewels in the big collection reset to bring them up to the more recent fashionable requirements. Alexandra has been devoted to jewelry, its care and collection ever since her marriage. She has such an interest in a specially designed tray of white velvet, and before she retires each night, attends personally to locking the jewels in burglar proof vaults. The only other person who has a key to these vaults is the Hon. Charlotte Knollys.

Granddad and the Typewriter. He was a youngster of decided Celtic origin. His grandfather had been a Celt before him, and so had his great grandfather. But he was ambitious and wanted a typewriter, and the things higher than the farm upon which his father had been reared.

He was founding the machine when his grandfather came in. The old man stopped and looked. He gazed wonderingly, stroking his bit of beard wonderingly. "That's a bit of board wonderfully," he said. "What's it for?" asked the old man.

"It's a typewriter," answered the younger man.

"Um—uh, huh?" He paused and watched the boy work the keys. "Does it work when you talk it?"

Still with Us. The new issue of the London directory provides some curiousities in names. Sebastian Bach is a horse dealer; Robert Bruce and John Dunsen are grocers; John Milton is a chandler and James Boswell a mason.

William Shakespeare is the name of a hairdresser, a tailor and a waiter. There is a Crispin and also a Gulliver; Julius Caesar is a chemist; Ivy keeps apartments; Honor is a lighterman; Phalar an electrical engineer; Mars teaches beer and Venus, not inappropriately, sugar candies. Francis Bacon is an architect and Bayard a hairdresser. At what would be better for the name of a saddler than Whippy?

A Mistake. She—Beware of that bottle of champagne our unprincipled hostess would offer you, Henry. There is madness in its contents.

He—(consueringly)—Oh, don't think that, dear, just because you may see it foaming at the mouth.

His Kind. De Style—You say he uses no judgment in buying presents?

Funbush—He's the kind of fellow who'd give his own set of kid gloves for the Venns of Milo.

Origin of an Idea. "Where do you suppose he got his idea for a gyrocopter?"

"Some simple incident probably gave him the inspiration. Perhaps from watching an ornithion dancing girl."—Kansas City Times.

A Form of Popularity. "My husband is one of the most popular men in his club," said young Mrs. Turkington.

"I'm sorry to hear that," replied Miss Cayenne. "It indicates that he never wins."

Wouldn't Know the Difference. "I couldn't get a box."

"Then we shall have to try in the orchestra."

"You afraid so, my dear Tit it once. You can't get just a poor view of the stage if you sit sideways."

Consolation of Columbus. Columbus was regretting his discovery had been lost to him.

"However," he mused, "nobody has called me a Spigotty."

Herewith he felt the worst was yet to come.

THE AMERICAN HOME

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building for the owners of this paper. He is a man of wide experience as a Builder, Architect and Manufacturer. He is, without doubt, the highest authority on all things pertaining to the subject of building. He is a native of Illinois and has lived in this country for twenty years.

Radford in architecture, the woman's garments, change, but happily not with the same frequency. Old settlers will recall the observatory style of dwelling in which architecture indulged in the early days. Later we borrowed from France the Mansard roof which the French knew how to build and we did not. Then followed the "Queen Anne" with its many gabled pretensions and curd thickness of construction.

There is now coming with a broad and irresistible sweep the executed house, which promises a revolution in the appearance of the west and all other sections of the country. It will find the rural communities and the towns and make them alone. The plastered, or what is frequently styled the "half-timbered" house originated in the days of the Tudors in England, and many examples remain after three centuries of exposure substantially as good as when put up.

It was first adopted in this country by the wealthy New Englanders for their country residences and soon shore cottages, as the plastic material lent itself admirably to every feature of an architect's imagination, and harmonized well with foliage effects.

It then jumped to the great lakes and is now so well established in Chicago and other lake ports that in the attainable lands to the second floor.

To the left of the reception hall is the parlor, 12 feet 4 inches by 15 feet 4 inches in size. Back of the reception hall is an entrance to the kitchen, from which access also is had to the stairway leading to the basement.

The dining room is 18 feet 8 inches by 12 feet 4 inches. This large room will please the average housewife, because the hump of any woman's life is a dining-room that is too small.

On the second floor are four bedrooms and a bathroom. One of the features of this floor is the balcony at the rear, which can be utilized on hot summer nights for a place to get a breath of fresh air. Access is had to it through a door leading from the rear bedroom, as can be seen by reference to the plan.

The unfortunate situation of settlers in the valleys of the San Gabriel and Santa Ana rivers in southern California call attention to the danger threatening that region in its danger of unusual rainfall. The beds of these rivers are as dry as a bone during the greater part of the year, the water being allowed for purposes of irrigation, but in time of flood they become raging torrents. As the river beds have mostly been choked with deposited sand and silt, the course that a flood may take is quite uncertain. It is, in fact, more likely to cut a new channel through high improved property than to stick to the path assigned it on the map.

This is what the San Gabriel river has done in the Los Nietos valley, a fertile alluvial plain, situated with valuable orchards and houses. In fact, the course of this river has changed more than once since the American settlement, as the name "old river" and "new river" serve to indicate. Something of the same sort is happening on the upper reaches of the San in Ana river, near Riverside, and even on the lower reaches in Orange county bad washouts are reported. It is history that in a season of big rainfall in the early sixties the whole valley between the San Gabriel and the present site of Santa Ana was flooded.

Rockefeller in Church. John D. Rockefeller in his pew in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York city, is as hospitable as he is wealthy. When the pew is filled by members of his own family he is generous in inviting into it strangers who otherwise might have to stand or be crowded uncomfortably in other pews. Such was his attitude Sunday morning, for he welcomed three strangers into his pew and made room for them by the comfortable and listen to the sermon of Rev. Dr. Charles F. Aked, pastor.

When the service was finished Rockefeller shook hands with both women and asked them if they did not like Dr. Aked's address. He bowed to them as friends of his approached him and turned away. Then one of the two women asked who the man was, and the other replied: "That is John D. Rockefeller." The women gasped.

What Caused It. "Were you ever treated for the drink habit, my poor man?"

"Oh, yes, man, I couldn't afford to be buying 'em."

One of the party, willing to learn what the proof was, wagged 10 cents with the banker and he was asked to sustain his position.

"Well," he began, "a beehive is a beeholder and a beeholder is a spectator (spoked tutor)." The women gasped.

Where There's a Will. He—"So you there's a will, given up smoking?" It requires a pretty strong will to accomplish that." She—"Well, I'd have you understand that I have a strong will."—New Zealand Free Lance.

Butter Adulterated with Flint. Butter was sold to the English working classes of the cities of London and London, and was adulterated with ground flint. The flint stones were ground and manipulated into a substance called "soluble silica."

No man or no nation can stand still in a world where every form of life has grown out of a lower form, where one age builds on another, as the coral insect builds up the islands of the sea, nothing can be stationary.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Banana oil or amyl acetate is a good bronze liquid.

The United Kingdom manufactures 300,000 tons of zinc yearly.

For outside painting use little turpentine with the boiled oil.

Jerusalem is to get a new water supply from springs ten miles from the city.

The sale of white phosphorus matches in Great Britain has been prohibited by parliament.

For the first time in many years Nevada produced a marketable quantity of quicksilver last year.

New Zealand fruit growers have imported 100 ewes from Germany to combat their pest of small birds.

Seventy per cent. of the world's supply of camphor each year is consumed in the manufacture of celluloid.

The world's largest incubator is in Australia, where it is used to hatch 11,440 ducks' eggs or 11,010 hens' eggs at a time.

Of the world's production of gold in the last 400 years nearly one-half has been produced in the last quarter century.

The humble goat of foreign lands contributes one-third of the value of the silks imported by the United States each year.

A great cement plant is being erected at Orofino, Idaho, involving an initial expenditure of $1,000,000 and will turn out 2,500 barrels a day.

A cover for stationery washbasins that rolls up has been patented by a Massachusetts man to prevent accidents due to solid tops falling upon persons' heads.

Experiments in abrasion at a French plant have proved that aluminum coils will be less rapidly worn by use than coils made of gold, silver or even brass.

A Kentucky claim to have made a machine for bricklayers by his recently patented trowel, which carries a hopper from which the mortar is fed automatically in a smooth, clear stream.

The advance in shipbuilding since the 18th century has been enormous. In 1855 the United States built a ship for Germany to prepare for an additional expenditure of more than $50,000,000 to widen and deepen it.

Handy Paper-Cutting Tool. Hanger's Adjustable Templet Will Save Considerable Time—Made Out of Wood.

This handy tool will be found useful, and will save considerable time, in cutting wall paper up the rake of a stairway or where any roof slants, allowing the paper hanger to cut a number of lengths of paper on the paste board at once, where at present it is only customary to cut one at a time, whereas I. On the second floor are four bedrooms and a bathroom. One of the features of this floor is the balcony at the rear, which can be utilized on hot summer nights for a place to get a breath of fresh air. Access is had to it through a door leading from the rear bedroom, as can be seen by reference to the plan.

The unfortunate situation of settlers in the valleys of the San Gabriel and Santa Ana rivers in southern California call attention to the danger threatening that region in its danger of unusual rainfall. The beds of these rivers are as dry as a bone during the greater part of the year, the water being allowed for purposes of irrigation, but in time of flood they become raging torrents. As the river beds have mostly been choked with deposited sand and silt, the course that a flood may take is quite uncertain. It is, in fact, more likely to cut a new channel through high improved property than to stick to the path assigned it on the map.

This is what the San Gabriel river has done in the Los Nietos valley, a fertile alluvial plain, situated with valuable orchards and houses. ### DEVICE TO CONSUME HUBBISH

Flames, Hot Ashes or Sparks Cannot Escape from Burner While It Is in Use.

There seems to be some urgent demand for a means of consuming the accumulation of paper boxes and similar material which gather about an ordinary household. The bonfire is effective, but it is always attended with a considerable element of danger. Wire baskets which have been invented for the purpose reduce this danger very much, but it is said for the new device for this purpose, which is made of sheet metal and entirely enclosed, that sparks and flames cannot escape and consequently no damage can be done from its use.

Using Oilcloth for Fuel. Served Nansen and His Men Crossing Great Ice-Cap of Greenland Many Years Ago.

All the materials that go into the making of oilcloth are highly inflammable, and it is said that this is used in the great ice-caps of Greenland, and his men had much difficulty in getting water for any purpose, and it took fuel to melt the ice and snow. Fuel was not to be had from the country and their supply of spirits for burning ran low. Whatever of their oil was found in a cooking pot, the oilcloth blazed up splendidly, but most pleasure have their attendant pain, and in a few minutes a horrible black smoke filled the tent and almost blinded the occupants, most of whom took refuge in the sleeping bags, with their heads well covered.

Somewhere, however, they found and look after the tanning, but long before enough snow was melted the tin can began to leak, and a more water-tight vessel had to be found. Eventually the tea was made and disposed of, although at the same time it was agreed that oilcloth was a most unsuitable fuel for use in a small tent. The next morning the fire was made outside, with perfectly satisfactory results, and enough snow was melted for a real thirst-quenching drink all around, which was a treat not enjoyed every day.

A more personal effort of the oilcloth was a thick coating of soot over the faces of the company. This continued to decorate them for many a day, washing being entirely at a discount, for water was far too scarce to be used in this way; and even if it had been plentiful, it would have been unwise to apply it to the face, as it seemed to make the skin more liable to crack and peel off under the combined glare of the sun and snow.

TURN OIL FROM SQUARE CAN. If Held with Opening on Lower Corner Liquid Will Spill Causing Much Waste.

A great many oil cans in which oil is sold are square with the opening at the side or corner. The contents of such a can may be poured out without wasting a drop, if the can is held properly with the opening at the top, says Popular Mechanics. This will permit the can to be tipped so the oil will flow without a gurgle. If the can is held so the opening will be at the lower corner the oil will try to follow down the outside of the can and cause considerable waste.

Vinegar Improves Dates. Knowing that the Arabs use vinegar to improve retarded dates, A. E. Vinson of the Arizona experiment station has tried spraying bunches of the green fruit with acetic acid for 12 or 15 hours, and in three days has produced perfect commercial dates of the best natural flavor. The process may be aided by sunshine or a heat of 110 degrees F. It is anticipated that this process will be of much practical importance, as the dates can be shipped while green and hard, and ripened after reaching their destination. Other chemicals had a ripening effect, the flavor being impaired by some.

Russia's People. The population of Russia is actually growing at a rate of one and one-half per cent a year, not equalled in any important country on the globe, not even in France does so large a proportion of the population belong to the land-owning class, providing a necessary condition for the agricultural prosperity of the coming generation. Since 1877 the amount of arable land held by the nobility has diminished by a third; yet the price of land has risen in every part of the empire.—Review of Events.

The Debt to Imagination.
 Millions have watched the kettle boiling and the skies flashing lightning, but it took the imagination of a Watt and a Franklin to start steam and electricity to moving the world. It is to imagination that earth owes most. It has taught us how to make life beautiful; to turn the stumbling blocks of nature into helpful forces; even now to make of unwilling nature herself a tireless slave to serve helpless man. Imagination is indispensable in creating science, art, literature and music. Therefore a bright, strong imagination is one of the finest things with which a child can come endowed into this world, and a child blessed with an unusual amount is emphatically a person of precious value to the times. For it is from such that progress and most advancements must come, because the

AFTER-INVENTORY SALE

Our Great Annual Cleaning Up Sale

After Stock Taking Starts Monday

With An Unprecedented Array

of Underpriced Items.

ONCE a year we take inventory of our stocks. Once every year our entire store is ransacked, the staple merchandise of which full assortments remain is placed in our stock sheets, all other goods are disposed of. Now, the quickest and most satisfactory way to effect a rapid disposal is to cut prices; so we have taken all these small lots and broken assortments and marked them at practically give-away prices—away below their actual value. The Bargain Bulletin is listed below. Read the list carefully.

HUNDREDS upon hundreds of small lots of seasonable merchandise have been revealed by the general re-arrangement of our stocks. Many of the lots are not small or broken, but we consider it advisable to be rid of them, and have included them in the general price-slashing rather than carry them over. Every day will see new bargains go on sale at phenomenally low prices, so we advise that you come tomorrow, and every day that you conveniently can thereafter.

We Dive Pretty Deep

into the merits of building materials

Busy builders have no time to experiment with building materials of uncertain quality. They demand the kind they can use without the possibility of having to tear down and build over again. That's why they come to us for their requirements. Their example is worth following.

Nearly 1,000 People Taking Chiropractic Adjustment

The largest school of Healing of its kind in the Universal Chiropractic College located at Davenport, Iowa. This College has from 800 to 400 students in regular attendance. Among those taking up the new work are prominent M. D., Osteopaths, physicians, men from the pulpit, and from all the other professional walks of life. These men have discarded their former methods and theories of treating the effects and symptoms of diseases, to study Chiropractic which hits the cause of nearly every disease thru the nervous system and spinal column. Between 800 and 1000 sick people from all parts of the country are in Davenport constantly receiving Chiropractic Adjustments. These 1000 sick people at Davenport are every one having their spines placed in position—the pinched nerves to the heart, lungs, kidneys, stomach, spleen, bowels, etc., etc., restored to normal condition thus allowing the full current from the spinal cord and brain to perform its regular function—THAT MEANS HEALTH. We are doing this same work here—AT YOUR VERY DOOR IS HEALTH. All you need do is stretch out your hand—grasp it—NOW—TODAY.

Do you want proof? It's here; hundreds of those who are well will tell you. Read the booklet, "Explanation of Chiropractic". Call or write for it.

The Farmers Institute closed Wednesday afternoon and Mr. Stiles, the institute conductor, stated that this institute was the best attended and most delightful institute held this winter in the state. At one session there were over 300 farmers in the hall. The farmers themselves made most of their time by asking questions and commenting freely on all the topics up for discussion. The prizes were awarded as follows: Byers, 1st, A. Zimmerman; 2nd, Chas. Jensen; 3rd, Fred Schultz. Barley, 1st, A. Bukowski; 2nd, Paul Kroll; 3rd, J. Dougherty. Oats—1st, A. Bukowski; 2nd, Fred Hass; 3rd, John Johnson. Potatoes—1st, O. VanAsten; 2nd, John Umholt; 3rd, J. H. Atkins. Corn—1st, J. B. Atkins; 2nd, Paul Kroll; 3rd, John Grainger.

We have experienced the coldest weather the past week, that we have had in many a year. It is reported that the mercury dropped to 38 degrees below 0 Sunday morning. It had registered 38 to 30 most of the week. It snowed all Sunday night and was warmer Monday. Sleighing is good where the roads are not drifted. If you don't believe it ask Jim Carow where he left his load of wood Monday.

The Lelza Rayome home was quarantined last week on account of small pox.

Babe Orottau's children are well now and the small pox sign was removed last Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Jackson are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby girl born Sunday, Jan. 7th. Mother and babe are getting along fine.

Mrs. Glen Cooper, nee Selma Kruger departed Sunday night for Milwaukee to resume her school duties.

Mrs. Mose Sharkey has gone to Crystal Falls to visit her daughter, Mrs. Olaf Orogan, nee Myrtle Sharkey.

A number of our farmers have lost lots of potatoes during the past cold spell and in one instance even the canned fruit froze.

Miss Mary Kujawa went to Biron Thursday noon to visit Alce Testor until Friday night.

Jim Carow spent a few days in Chippewa Falls last week.

Mrs. Frank Whitman is suffering with a severe cold.

On account of the cold weather Friday evening the wrestling match between Little and Hibbard was postponed indefinitely.

Mary Kujawa returned to Stevens Point Sunday noon after spending the holiday vacation at home.

Arsona Ratelle returned Wednesday from Stratford where he was working. One of Andrew Johnson's horses which he was driving has a sore leg so he brought the team home and will spend the rest of the winter with his brother Nick.

Mrs. Geo. Elliott was a caller in your city Tuesday of the past week. Misses Ella Latus and Hazel Nisson of Grand Rapids came up Sunday noon to resume their school work.

Joe Marshall spent Sunday in Dancy. Miss Rose Hobbits of Dancy spent New Years day and Tuesday here.

Misses Grace and Alice Carew of Chippewa Falls were guests at the home of their uncle, Wm. Carew from Thursday till Saturday noon.

Jim Carow and sister Miss Helen were shoppers in your city Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mike Mason of Grand Rapids spent New Years night and a few days after with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Jacoby.

Albin Kujawa returned to Stevens Point Thursday morning.

CRANMOOR

Ed. Kruger drove to Grand Rapids Thursday with a load of sheep for market.

That Alaska or Arctic Zephyr struck Cranmoor as well as the surrounding country last Friday and all the able bodied have been kept busy hustling in fuel and carrying out ashes. Our J. W. Elton says "mercury has not been so low for thirteen years. Then it went to 64 degrees below and we had three or four weeks of very low temperatures."

Miss Minnie Kruger left on the noon train Saturday to re-open school in the West district Monday.

Miss Eulalia Markee, who has been spending the vacation at her home in Abundale, returned Saturday to resume school Monday. While enroute, Miss Markee had the misfortune to freeze an ear, which is causing considerable discomfort.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Clinton are entertaining a nephew and his wife and little son from Oshkosh.

During the storm something happened to our telephone line and for nearly a week we were cut off from the outside world. Everyone could sympathize with Manager Searls' reluctance to locate the trouble with the thermometer 40 degrees below.

Hubert, Mary and Evelyn Foley braved the elements Sunday and drove to Ardena returning Monday.

Mr. Oetey of Fitchville is superintending the shipping of haled hay from the Arpla Co's marsh.

Mr. Chase is also making into bates and shipping out a quantity of hay cut on his lands southeast of the Oulu property.

Thomas Resin was a Nekosia trader Monday.

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers' Association convened in Grand Rapids Tuesday. S. N. Whitley, J. W. Fitch and Frank Patterson were among the number that went up on the 9 o'clock train Monday not caring to take chances on a cold wait for a probable delayed morning train Tuesday.

Oscar Fokar drove to Grand Rapids Monday evening. Messrs. A. E. Bennett, B. P. Clinton and nephew Tuesday morning all to attend the annual cranberry meeting.

SIGEL

The Soneco, Sigel & Rudolph Mutual Fire Insurance Co. elected the following directors at their annual meeting held at Vesper on Jan. 2nd: For Seneca, Wm. Jackson and August Stake For Sigel, Jake Kissinger and Chas. Kloven. For Rudolph, Joe Reimer and Paul Zimmerman. The report for the past year was read and accepted. It showed the company to be in very good condition, with a balance of $1844.09 on hand.

Miss Edith Blomquist, who is attending training school at Grand Rapids, spent her Christmas vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blomquist.

Federation Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Federated Clubs will be held at the residence of Mrs. C. F. Kellogg Friday, January 19th. Miss Edith McCullough of Ashland will be present and address the meeting. The program is as follows:

Reception—West Side Division. Music—Selected. Report of Committees—(a) Hospital, (b) Relief, (c) Library, (d) Consumers League, (e) Entertainment.

Vocal Solo—Miss Edith Weeks. Library Work—Miss Edith McCullough.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. E. B. Redford. Topic—Home Economics—Thrift in the Kitchen, Mrs. Lina Corriveau. Servant Problem, Mrs. J. J. Looze. Food Adulteration and Weights and Measures, Mrs. W. G. Merrill.

Adjournment.

AFTER-INVENTORY SALE

Our Great Annual Cleaning Up Sale
After Stock Taking Starts Monday
With An Unprecedented Array
of Underpriced Items.

ONCE a year we take inventory of our stocks. Once every year our entire store is ransacked, the staple merchandise of which full assortments remain is placed in our stock sheets, all other goods are disposed of. Now, the quickest and most satisfactory way to effect a rapid disposal is to cut prices; so we have taken all these small lots and broken assortments and marked them at practically give-away prices—away below their actual value. The Bargain Bulletin is listed below. Read the list carefully.

HUNDREDS upon hundreds of small lots of seasonable merchandise have been revealed by the general re-arrangement of our stocks. Many of the lots are not small or broken, but we consider it advisable to be rid of them, and have included them in the general price-slashing rather than carry them over.
